SACCO AND VANZETTI APPEALS ARE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Full Bench of Massachusetts Supreme Court Hears the Arguments on Two Petitions.

NO DECISION LIKELY
FOR SEVERAL DAYS

Defense Directs Efforts to Getting New Trial or Forcing Case Into Federal Courts.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Aug. 16.—The Massachusetts Supreme Court after hearing arguments today took under advisement bills of exception filed by counsel for Nicola Sacco and Barolomeo Vanzetti to decisions by Judge Webster Thayer of the Superior Court and Justice George
A. Sanderson of the Supreme Court.
Sacco and Vanzetti under sentence of death for murder have been rerieved until Aug. 22.

Just before court adjourned at 3 p. m., Arthur D. Hill, chief counsel for the defense, filed a new petition asking the full bench of the supreme court to grant a writ of error.

Justice Braley, asked Hill in the course of the arguments why he had not originally petitioned the full bench for a writ of error instead of a single justice. Hill replied that he had followed what he had believed to be the usual procedure but that if the court would permit he would file a petition with the full bench.

Decision May Be Delayed.
It is considered possible that the decision may not be given for several days. It is pointed out that there is a large volume of affidavits and other matter to be examined by the court which will require considerable time.

Hill for the defense and Attorney-General Arthur K. Reading for the State presented the arguments.

Four of the seven justices of the court sat as a full bench today.
H. K. Braley presiding in the absence of Chief Justice A. P. Rug-
g. S. Pierce, J. B. Carroll and W.
C. Wall Justice Sanderson did not sit with them, but in the unlikely event of a tie would be called on to review the case.

The defense filed two bills of exception, the first to the decision by Justice Sanderson of a writ of error which had been asked for on the ground that the defendants' constitutional rights had been violated by the alleged prejudice of Judge Thayer who presided at their trial.

The second bill excepted to Judge Thayer's refusal to grant a new trial, a revocation of sentence or a stay of sentence. Exception also was taken to his refusal to decline to hear the motions and to request that another Superior Court Judge be assigned to hear them.

Courthouse Guarded.
The Suffolk County Courthouse
in Pemberton Square, where the hearing was held, was closely guarded. Policemen were stationed about the building. The corridor leading to the Supreme Court chamber was barricaded by a row of benches and court officers exposed every person who could not show that he had a right to be there.

Attorney Hill submitted a long brief signed by himself and by Eliza Field and Richard C. Everts in associate counsel.

Hill argued that prejudice on the part of Judge Thayer had been clearly shown and was sufficient to warrant a writ of error and a new trial. Attorney-General Reading took the ground that no evidence of prejudice sufficient to require Justice Sanderson to issue a writ of error had been presented.

In connection with defense affidavits telling of alleged statements made by Judge Thayer outside the courtroom, some of which asserted that the judge had used vile language with reference to Sacco and Vanzetti, Reading remarked in his brief: "We feel it our duty to point out that the constitution of Massachusetts does not guarantee that every judge will at every time and place within and without the courtroom refrain from the use of profanity and vile language."

Ordinarily an argument before the Supreme Court is limited to

NEIGHBOR BETRAYS MARRIED WOMAN, WINNER OF CONTEST

Chicago Beauty Disqualified for Paganst Honor, Which Goes to Runner-Up.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—A married woman basked in the public limelight as "Miss Chicago" for several hours yesterday until a consensuous neighbor, informed the judges of the city's pageant of beauty of her disqualification by marriage.

After a close contest Miss Kosloff, 20-year-old blonde, was named winner, barely defeating Miss Myrtle Vallisted, 17, a brunette, who was named as alternate. Overjoyed, the winner raced to an alley by the theater where the contest was held and kissed a man. This aroused curiosity of the judges and then many questions followed.

Then the newspapers came out with her pictures and quoting her as "not caring a fig for her as."
Then the conscientious neighbor told the judges that "Miss Chicago"
had been married for two months.

The winner denied this until the judges ferreted out the marriage records. Then she confessed. So now Miss Vallisted is "Miss Chicago" for 1927.

BANK FILES SUIT FOR $294,000
FOR OVERPAYMENT TO U. S.

First National Claims Refund on Excess Profits Tax Paid by Third National for 1918.

Suit for $294,302.72 was filed in Federal Court today by the First National Bank of St. Louis, as successor to the Third National Bank, against the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, the allegation being that the Third National was erroneously overassessed this amount in 1918.

The amount claimed was assessed as against income and excess profit tax in 1918, during which year the average daily deposits of the bank aggregated $46,500,000.

It was set forth in the petition that the disputed tax, which was against the earnings on deposits for the year, was disproportionate and that the income from deposits be-should not have been taxed because it is alleged, such income should have been regarded as borrowed money.

BOMB EXPLOSION WRECKS HOME OF SACCO CASE JUROR

Lewis McHardy, Wife and Three Grown Children Blown Out of Beds in East Milton, Mass.

POLICE ON GUARD, INVESTIGATION BEGUN

Officers Sent to Protect Residences of Others on Panel That Tried Radicals
Seven Years Ago.

By the Associated Press.
EAST MILTON, Mass., Aug. 16.—
An explosion believed by police to have been caused by a time-fuse bomb, early today wrecked the home of Lewis McHardy, a juror in the Sacco-Vanzetti trial seven years ago. McHardy, his wife, and three grown children, who were blown out of their beds, suffered cuts and bruises.

Mrs. McHardy was in her room on the second floor of the two and one-half story wooden house. Police rescued her. Her husband was able to work his way from the ruins and their two sons, Jack and Theodore, carried their sister, Helen, from her room.

Windows were broken in houses
a mile away and nearby trees were stripped of their leaves. With the exception of the back wall of the McHardy home, the sides of the house were blown out. The granite foundation was cracked, the front porch torn off and a bulkhead was blown out of the back of the house.

Police Guard Other Jurors.
Police were thrown around the place and an investigation was started immediately by State police.
Guards were dispatched to the homes of three other jurors who live in the vicinity.

Besides the investigation by the State and local police, Assistant District Attorney Sullivan of Norfolk County went over the scene.
South Braintree, where the hold-up murder of which Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted occurred,
also is in Norfolk County.

The explosive was placed under the northeast corner of the house near the front door. The detonation of the charge blew a hole 20 feet deep in the earth.

A report reached police that a small automobile was seen leaving the vicinity shortly before the explosion.

The explosion occurred at 3:30
a. m. At 3 the policemen whose beat passes the McHardy house rang in his box about 300 yards away. The patrolman said he saw nothing suspicious at that time.

The family had gone to bed about 11 o'clock and had seen no one in the immediate neighborhood during the evening who aroused any suspicions.

McHardy said that a long time ago he had received a threatening letter as had other jurors in the famous trial. He said that he had not feared an attack and had had no misgivings as to his safety.

During the investigation by Gov.
Alvan T. Fuller, McHardy was called for an interview. Since then, he said, he had received no threats of any kind.

McHardy's home is near the Wes Quincy line, where a crowd of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers met last night. McHardy is employed in a chocolate mill in Milton.

"The first I knew," said Theodore McHardy, describing his impressions of the explosion, "I found myself on the floor of the attic.
Where Jack and I had our rooms.
I thought at first I had simply fallen out of bed in a nightmare or something of the kind, and then suddenly the floor began to shake under me and I heard a dull roar, followed by a strange humming sound like an airplane in the distance."

"Then the door fell in on me,
the glass in the window fell crashing to the floor, and before I was really awake the roof opened up and I could see the sky."

McHardy Sr. said: "Part of the bomb looked to my son Jack, who served in the ambulance service in France, similar to a hand grenade."

"It was four or five years ago that I received a threatening letter concerning me for my vote finding Sacco and Vanzetti guilty and saying that my house would be blown up if I did not make amends.
I paid no attention to it at the time and tore up the letter."

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Aug. 16.—Gov. Fuller arrived at his office at the State House this morning and immediately was visited by Alfred F.
Poole, State Commissioner of Public Safety, who told him of the explosion early today which wrecked
the home of Lewis McHardy of East Milton.

McHardy has extensive business activities in addition to his connection with Armour & Co. He was a director of several large railroads and financial institutions,
among them the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the National City
Bank of New York, the Continental
and Commercial Bank of Chicago.

J. OGDEN ARMOUR DIES AFTER SIEGE OF TYPHOID FEVER

Chicago Capitalist Succumbs in London at 63.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 16.—J. Ogden
Armour, Chicago packer and capitalist, died here of heart disease at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—J. Ogden Armour died today in London, according to a cablegram received here. He had been ill with typhoid fever for six weeks. The last previous report was that he was recovering, although considerably exhausted by his long fight for life.

His wife, daughter and son-in-law,
Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, were with him in London.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs.
Armour were at the bedside when Mr. Armour died. He would have been 64 years old in November.

All along Mr. Armour's recovery had been greatly hampered by recurrences of stomach attacks, to which he had long been subject.

The news of the death of U.S.
the man who at one time in his career directed a concern whose business totaled more than $1-000,000,000 a year, was received here by Lester Armour, a nephew.
Management of Armour & Co. has been largely in the hands of Lester Armour and another nephew, Philip D. Armour III, in recent years.

Mrs. P. D. Armour, Mr. Armour's mother, died about a month ago, and because of his weakened state he was not told of her death.

Mr. Armour is said to have once refused $100,000,000 for his share in the packing company, giving as his reason that his pleasure in his contacts with business associates could not be measured in money.

His holdings had been reported as dwindling in recent years, 1925 records of the Internal Revenue office showing his income as not taxable.

He Withdrew From Yale to Learn
Business Under Father.

JONATHAN OGDEN ARMOUR, eldest son of Philip D. Armour Sr., founder of Armour & Co., master makers, sacrificed his senior year in Yale because of his father's desire to give him an early training in the business he was destined eventually to direct. After a year of apprenticeship, young Armour assumed executive responsibilities and for more than 17 years applied himself diligently to the packing business. He assumed complete control on the death of his father in 1901.

Under his direction the volume of Armour & Co.'s business grew from $12,000,000 a year to more than $1,000,000,000 a year, and the activities of the company were greatly expanded and developed.

Mr. Armour built additional plants in various parts of the country to encourage and develop the production of live stock in the territory, and to eliminate long hauls to the cattle yards. It was under his guidance that the South American subsidiaries of the company were established. Today there are five Armour plants south of the Equator, 15 in the United States, and one in Canada. There also are approximately 400 branch houses in the United States to facilitate distribution.

Born in Milwaukee in 1863.
Mr. Armour was born in Milwaukee, Nov. 11, 1863. Twelve years later the Armour family moved from Milwaukee to Chicago.
After attending the public schools there, Mr. Armour entered Yale in 1881, and three years later returned to Chicago to embark upon his business career.

He married Miss Lolita Sheldon, daughter of Martin J. Sheldon of Suffield, Conn., in 1891. They have one daughter, Mrs. John J. Mitchell Jr., who was Lolita Ogden Armour, born in 1896.

Mr. Armour has extensive business activities in addition to his
connection with Armour & Co. He was a director of several large rail-
roads and financial institutions,
and Commercial Bank of Chicago.

4 PLANES IN AIR IN RACE TO HAWAII; ONE CRASHES AND ONE FAILS TO FLY; TROUBLE FORCES OUT TWO OTHERS

Entrants in Flight to Honolulu

AMONG the pilots and navigators
the air race to Hawaii are (above, from left): Frank Clark,
Capt. Bennett Griffin, Jack Frost, Martin Jensen, Robert Fowler and (back row, from left) C. W. Parkhurst, ruled out at the last moment;
Lieut. Kenneth Hawkins, Art Goebel and Lieut. Griffen. The picture ran, the Flint, Mich., school teacher, who started out with Pilot Augie Pedlar, only to return.

BALL FINDS HIS PLANE FASTER THAN BROWNS

Baseball Magnate Arrives From San Diego, Cal., in His New Machine.

Phil DeC Ball, owner of the Browns and head of a large refrigeration enterprise, landed at Lambert-St. Louis field at 1:30 this afternoon in his new Ryan cabin-airplane after a cross-country trip from San Diego, Calif., with his pilot, Frank T. Dunn, and a friend, Jay Renfrow, of San Diego.

"A lot faster than the Browns," Ball replied when asked what he thought of his new means of transportation.

The plane is an $11,000 brougham, made by the Ryan Airlines, which built Col. Lindbergh's
"Spirit of St. Louis." It carries four passengers and a pilot.

The cabin is lined with purple velour
and is provided with wicker seats.
The party left San Diego Saturday morning, landing in El Paso, Tex., after a flight of six hours.

Sunday morning a clog in the fuel line forced the ship down on the Red River in Texas but Dunn cleared the trouble. Yesterday hop was a short one from Fort Sill, Okla., to Tulsa, and today
Dunn took the plane from Tulsa to St. Louis in three hours and thirty minutes.

Driven by a Whirlwind motor the plane is almost identical in design with Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," and is a duplicate of the Ryan brougham now in operation at Lambert-St. Louis field by the Von Hoffman Aircraft Co. It has a cruising speed of about 110 miles an hour and a high speed of 135.

After Ball had greeted Mrs. Ball, who awaited him at the field, and had assured her that he was not a bit tired, he announced his intention of using the plane for business and pleasure trips. For the trip to St. Louis he wore an ordinary business suit and a straw hat, while Dunn had exchanged the usual flyer's helmet for a cap.

COOLIDGE TO SEEK OTHER JOB THAN SUCCEEDING E. H. GARY

Neither Steel Corporation Position Nor Amherst Presidency Considered, Office Says.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 16.—
Plenty of opportunities for work—some real and some fanciful—are coming to President Coolidge to take his attention when he leaves office March 4, 1929, as he plans to do.

In answer to inquiries today, however, it was announced at the executive office that Mr. Coolidge does not anticipate succeeding the late E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, nor does he expect to become president of Amherst College, his alma mater.

It was explained it would be unlikely that the steel corporation would go without an executive for a year and a half awaiting retirement of the President, even if it thought it advisable. So far as Amherst is concerned, Mr. Coolidge understands its new president is a young and promising man and that no change there is contemplated.

WRITES NOVEL IN PRISON
Leonard Cline, Accused of Murder, Completes "The Dark Chamber."

By the Associated Press.
HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 16.—
After writing two months in jail,
Leonard Cline, former newspaper writer, indicted for the murder of his friend, Wilfred Irwin, at Man-field, May 16, last, has completed his latest novel, and advance copies of "The Dark Chamber" were issued.

Cline's counsel, William A. King, said he would notify Superior Court Judge Edward M. Yeomans this week whether Cline chooses to be tried at Rockville next month before a Judge and a jury or before a presiding Judge and two assistant Judges. Cline's new novel has a character, Wilfred Hough, whose delineation implies the author had in mind his dead companion, Wilfred Irwin of Cleveland.
In the book, Wilfred Hough commits suicide.

PLANES IN AIR
FOR HAWAIIAN FLIGHT

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 16.— HESE airplanes got away successfully today in the race to Hawaii, and were still in the air late today.

The Golden Eagle, a monoplane, entered by the San Francisco Examiner. Jack Frost of New York is pilot and Gordon Scott of Santa Monica, Cal., is navigator.

The Aloha, a monoplane piloted by Martin Jensen of Honolulu and navigated by Paul Schluter, a master mariner.

The Woolaroo, also a monoplane, piloted by Arthur C.
Goebel, Hollywood stunt flyer, with Lietu. W. V. Davis of San Diego as navigator.

The Miss Deakenes piloted by J.
A. Pedlar of Flint, Mich.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The navy radio reported that the airplane Aloha passed the Tarrellone Island, 20 miles out at sea, at 1:05
p. m. (3:05 St. Louis time). The Aloha was flying at a height of 50 feet.

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, OAKland, Cal., Aug. 16.—Miss Mildred Doran, the flying schoolteacher of Michigan, went into the air a second time this afternoon, bound for Honolulu, and the chance at the $25,000 Dole prize in the airplane piloted by J. A. Pedlar, which had been forced to return after a first start because of motor trouble.

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, OAKland, Cal., Aug. 16.—Less than an hour after the take off, only three of the eight planes officially entered in the $25,000 air derby to Honolulu were left in the air
this afternoon.

The three were the Golden Eagle,
piloted by Jack Frost, New York;
the Aloha, by Martin Jensen, Honolulu, and the Woolaroo, by Arthur C. Goebel, Hollywood.

Three returned after the takeoff because of plane trouble, one crashed on the runway and one failed to get off the ground in two attempts. A ninth entry was disqualified just before the start at noon (2 p. m. St. Louis time).

The El Encanto, piloted by Lieut.
Norman Godard of San Diego, crashed at the take-off, but neither the pilot nor the nav-igator, Lieut. Keith C. Hawkins, was injured. The Pabco Flyer, piloted by Livingston Irving, who was flying alone, ran down the runway but failed to leave the ground.

Three Planes Come Back.
The planes that returned were the Miss Doran, Dallas Spirit and Oklahoma. The Miss Doran named for Miss Mildred Doran of Flint, Mich., the only woman in the race, developed motor trouble and Pilot John ("Augie") Pedlar headed back to the field. Wind pressure ripped the wings of the Dallas plane. The crew of the Oklahoma, first to leave the field, did not say why their plane returned.

Charles W. Parkhurst's craft, Air King, of Peoria, Ill., was disqualified because of insufficient gasoline capacity.

Livingston Irving was uninjured in the crash of his plane, but he suffered from shock. The plane, almost a wreck did not catch fire.
Irving's wife was the first to reach him, having stood at the end of the runway ready to greet her husband should he be forced down. He jumped from the cockpit and threw his arms about her.

The El Encanto crashed as it was attempting to get off the runway. Continued on Page 2, Column 2.

POLICE STOP DIVE OFF BROOKLYN BRIDGE

"Nothing Doing," Says Sergeant to Ray Woods of St. Louis.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch, NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Ray Woods, 21-year-old St. Louis youth, is desirous of simulating Steve Brodie's legendary jump from the Brooklyn Bridge, a dive of 13 feet, but he was stopped by Police Sergeant William Bracken. Woods was all set for his plunge at noon yesterday when Bracken appeared. The officer noticed two tugs lying below the north roadway on the bridge. Life preservers and ropes were conspicuous on their decks. Movie cameras were poised atop the pilot houses. More cameras were set up on Pier 20. A good sized crowd was waiting on other piers.

"Nothing doing," said the Sergeant to Woods. "You can't jump off this bridge. Bridges were built to go over, not off."

"There's no law against jumping off the bridge," protested one of Woods' friends.

"There's no law against stopping a man from committing suicide, either," commented the Sergeant. "Where's your pass to permit you on this roadway?"

There were no passes forthcoming and soon the automobile with its disappointed occupants, was speeding west toward Manhattan.

Woods, who resides at 5156 Waterman avenue, has successfully dived from the four bridges spanning the Mississippi River here and expected to quit his hobby of high diving after successfully diving from the Brooklyn Bridge.

A $167.50 robbery in Woman's Home.

Three $50 Liberty bonds and $17.50 were reported stolen yesterday from the home of Mrs. Ida Nudelmann, 1284 Walton avenue.

LINDBERGH SPENDS NIGHT IN TENT AT LAMBERT FIELD

Prefers Cot in Camp With "Buddies" of Air Corps to Luxurious Suite in Downtown Hotel.

"DUCKED" IN WATER BARREL BY COMRADES

Appearance in Uniform of Colonel for First Time Prompts Unusual Initiation.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who has had the finest hotel suites in this country and Europe since his trans-Atlantic flight, spent last night under canvas at Lambert-St. Louis Field in camp with his comrades of the 35th Division Air Corps.

It was a return to old memories—the long row of tents, the subdued night murmur of insects, the splash of water as the plane was towed through the long grass, the muffled tramping and the repetition of orders as the guard was changed. Lindbergh was at home again.

He arrived at the field on this, his second visit since the ocean flight, at 2:45 p. m. yesterday. He was preceded by his flying buddy Philip R. Love, who is conveying and carrying Donald E. Keyhoe, representative of the Department of Commerce, and Theodore Sorstemon, expert engine mechanic of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation.

Love had just taxied into the hangar when the outstretched wings of the "Spirit of St. Louis" came into view in the northwest.

Lindbergh made straight for the National Guard camp, coming ashore in the power glide.

When it seemed that he was about to land he pulled his ship up sharply, zoomed it up to 500 feet with characteristic abandon and, leaving it over on its side in the typical Lindbergh "chandler," swung off to pay his respects to downtown St. Louis.

He was back again at 3:05, making three circuits of the downtown district. As he taxied into the National Guard hangar the crowd broke through the cordon of guardsmen, spilling them endways, and milled about the plane shouting for Lindbergh to show himself.

True to his training, however, he allowed his engine to idle for a few minutes to cool, while he busied himself getting things shipshape in the cockpit.

Griffed by Buddies. He grinned quickly as he shook hands with Maj. R. Ray Wassall, commanding officer of the Thirty-fifth Division Air Corps, but the smile faded as he climbed out and saw the camera men waiting for him and the slightly worried look that he has never lost in the presence of crowds, came back to his faded countenance.

His own roadster was waiting for him with O. E. Scott, field manager, at the wheel, and in it Lindbergh was soon whirled over to the camp, to be surrounded by a group of officers of the squadron.

There was frank admiration in their eyes and on their tongues, but it was none of the ecstatic adulation that the general public has shown the flyer. It was "Hello, Slim, how're you feeling?" or "Say, Slim, why don't you get into uniform."

Dons Uniform of Colonel. Just the banal remarks that fly to make to a fellow who doesn't want to be too much of a hero, but they made Lindbergh at home—probably for the first time since he became a celebrity.

He laughed aloud, ruffled the hair of a comrade he had not seen for a long time, punched playfully at another, and disappeared into a tent to change from the garb of a civilian to the uniform of a Colonel.

It was the first time he had worn the eagles on his shoulder straps, but even his military grandeur failed to awe his buddies. After he had finished posing, some reluctantly, for photographs, a group of solemn-faced flyers gathered around him.

"Ducked" in Rain Barrel. "Slim," said one of them, "we're going to give you a ducking. You can come along peacefully or you can put up an argument and we'll carry you."

Slim laughed. That was language he understood.

"I'll come along," he said, "but I won't be responsible for what happens."

As so they led the youthful Colonel to the hangar and there performed the rite of getting him wet. Master Sgt. Joe Wecker shoved the flyer's distinguished head under the water of a brimming rain barrel, while Lindbergh held his hands and feet.

Lindbergh came up spluttering, drenched to a bucket that was near, dipped some water from the barrel and single-handedly routed the squadron.

For a while there was an old-fashioned roughhouse, the like of which there has not been since Lindbergh left the flying field.

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH and fellow officers at Lambert Field yesterday. At Lindbergh's right is Brigadier-General W. A. Raupp, commanding officer of the Missouri National Guard, and at his left, Maj. C. Ray Wassall, commanding officer of the 35th Division Air Corps. In the back row, left to right, are: Capt. Russell Young, Lieut. Philip R. Love, J. Johannpeter and George Stumpf and Capt. William M. Robertson.

struggle ended with Lindbergh drenched and forced to change back to civilian clothes, while many of the squadron members had to make hurried changes of uniform.

Presented With Trophy. At evening mess the flying Colonel sat with the officers of the squadron beside Brig. Gen. W. A. Raupp, while the enlisted men sat before him at the U-shaped outdoor table. There was roast-beef (Lindbergh wired "Let's not have chicken"), corn on the cob, potatoes, tomatoes, and all the other chow that Lindbergh likes.

After the meal had been concluded, Joe Wecker presented Lindbergh with a handsome silver and gold trophy given him on behalf of the Thirty-fifth Division Air Corps Flying Club. He started to make a speech but finally said: "Here it is, Slim, or words to that effect."

Someone shouted for a speech. Lindbergh arose, inspected the trophy and grinned broadly.

"I haven't had time to think about a speech," he said. "I always talk about commercial aviation, but that won't work here. All I can say is that it's good to be back. I'd like to be back here for a couple of weeks. There are a couple of reasons why," he added, grinning at the ringleaders in the ducking episode of the afternoon.

Then he called upon Phil Love for a speech. Love started to tell of a prank he had played on Lindbergh in which the Colonel had come off second best. Lindbergh rushed to his side with a pitcher of water, threatening to pour it down Love's best riding breeches if he started to tell the story.

Love filled three or four glasses of water for a counter attack and told the story anyhow, after asking newspaper men to leave.

Love's confusion by publishing it. Then Slim told one on Love.

So it went until Maj. Wassall arose from his chair and signified that the meal was over. Lindbergh and two of the officers went out for a short spin in the automobile in which Slim had chased one of his friends around the flying field a few minutes after he arrived.

They returned later and the flyer "visited" with his buddies until long after taps.

Early Arrival from Springfield, Ill. Took St. Louisans Unawares. Traveling over the route that he flew scores of times as chief pilot on the St. Louis-Chicago air mail line, Col. Lindbergh made the trip from Chicago to St. Louis yesterday in three hours and 32 minutes.

A detour of about 20 miles, made to bring him over the Central States Fair at Aurora, made his total distance for the trip about 320 miles. He left Chicago at 9:25 a. m. and landed at Springfield at 12:01 p. m., after dropping a greeting on the courthouse at Peoria, one of the stops on the air mail route.

At Springfield he dedicated the new Lindbergh Flying Field, laid a wreath on the tomb of Lincoln and was off again at 1:44. He dove on Lambert-St. Louis at 2:40, making the 90-mile trip from Springfield in 56 minutes, and swung off downtown.

He was an hour ahead of the arrival time announced for him and the downtown district was taken unawares. He was running with his engine throttled down, and since it made little noise he did not attract much attention. There were scattered groups on building tops, however.

Flying east over Lindell boulevard and Olive street he circled the downtown district three times, flew north to McKinley Bridge and then turned west to the flying field, where he landed.

SUIT OVER SUNDAY CLOSING LAW TAKEN IN ADVISEMENT

Rose-Del Market Challenges the Right of Police to Enforce Ordinance.

Testimony was heard today by Circuit Judge Rutledge in the injunction suit of the Rose-Del Market, 6046 Delmar boulevard, to keep police from enforcing against it the law requiring Sunday closing of groceries.

Lawrence McDaniel, counsel for the Retail Grocers' Association, appeared in support of the action of police in closing the Rose-Del Market on Sundays. "The Sunday closing law for groceries is no blue law," McDaniel said. "It is the grocers' own measure, to give them and their clerks a day of rest."

The market management contended that, as it sold only fruits and vegetables, it did not come under the grocery closing law, but it argued that if it did come under the law, the law was unreasonable and was class legislation. Andrew Sansone, proprietor, told of arrests of his brother, Anthony, and himself, and said that though he was now permitted to open the store on Sundays, pending outcome of the suit, his receipts had fallen off from $250 to $50 or $60 a Sunday.

Judge Rutledge took the Rose-Del case under advisement, and laid over until Aug. 29 the similar case in which two delicatessen proprietors have attacked the ordinance permitting them to keep open on Sundays from 3 to 6 p. m. only. A Sunday closing law for bake shops has been upheld by the State Supreme Court.

NAVY SEAPLANE SETS NEW RECORD FOR ENDURANCE

Flyers at San Diego Remain in Air 20 Hours, 45 Minutes, Average 80 Miles an Hour.

By the Associated Press. SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 15.—Two world's records for seaplanes, one for duration in the air and the other for distance covered, were believed to have been made today by Lieutenants Byron J. Connell and Herbert C. Rodd, United States naval aviators, stationed at the North Island Naval Air Station.

Connell and Rodd landed at the north island naval air station at 10:45 o'clock, after having been in the air 20 hours and 45 minutes, they covered about 1700 miles.

The exact distance, however, will not be known until official checking of the records have been made, during which time it is estimated Connell and Rodd used a PN-10 type of seaplane, for their flight, the machine weighing in excess of 21,000 pounds when it took off. It was fueled with more than 800 gallons of gasoline and 70 gallons of oil were taken aloft by the airmen.

8 KILLED IN JAIL ATTACK

By the Associated Press. PANAMA, Aug. 16.—Eight persons were reported dead and many injured in an attempt to storm the jail at Buena Ventura yesterday. The dispatches said the mob sought to lynch a policeman whom it held responsible for the killing of a prominent citizen.

Unable to obtain arms, the crowd used rocks and sticks as the police and a handful of soldiers tried to force them back. Reinforcements had to be called from the nearby town of Call.

SANITARIUM PATIENT SLAIN

MOLINE, Ill., Aug. 16.—Gilbert Marks, 25 years old, an escaped patient from a chiropractic-psychopathic sanitarium in Davenport, was shot to death while prowling on a farm, eight miles northeast of Moline, late last night.

Roger Forrest, 17-year-old farm youth, who shot Marks, said he intended merely to shoot the man in the legs. Marks is reported to have stolen an automobile in Davenport, after escaping from the sanitarium.

A month ago he escaped and was found driving a stolen automobile.

She told reporters that she would have to serve the fine out in jail unless friends raised the money.

COAST GUARDSMAN PROMOTED

Coolidge Gives Lieutenantcy for Capture of Liquor Runner.

By the Associated Press. RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 16.—Ensign C. L. Duke was promoted to the rank of junior grade lieutenant by President Coolidge today in "recognition of heroic service."

The memorandum upon which Mr. Coolidge acted, declared: "The promotion is in recognition of Ensign Duke's heroic service in seizing single-handedly the British steamer Green Point, masquerading under the name Economy on July 3, 1927, in which seizure he displayed qualities of initiative, courage, resourcefulness and determination of a high order."

The promotion was recommended by Admiral Billard of the Coast Guard. The Green Point was taken as a liquor runner.

PLANE NOT AS NOISY AS "L"

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—The noise of a Chicago elevated train heard from a distance of a half a block is more nerve-racking and louder than the take-off roar of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's plane, the "Spirit of St. Louis," tests made by Prof. Donald A. Laird as a psychology experiment disclosed.

Prof. Laird, head of the Department of Psychology at Colgate University, but at present an instructor at Northwestern University, is the inventor of an audiometer which he took with him yesterday on a flight in a plane equipped with a whirlwind motor like the motor in Lindbergh's plane. The meter registered 65 units. A half inch from an elevated train the meter registered 75 units.

TWO MEN DIE FROM INJURIES IN BOILER EXPLOSION

Enameling Factory in Granite City—Plant Is Forced to Close.

Two men died today from injuries suffered in an explosion of two boilers in the main plant of the National Enameling and Stamping Co., Twentieth and Madison streets, Granite City, yesterday afternoon. One other man was seriously injured, and 17 had minor injuries.

Those who died in St. Elizabeth's Hospital were Michael Hosian of 912 Alton street, Madison and Leonard Creswe of 1932A O street, Granite City. Timothy Evans of 2800 West Twentieth street, Granite City, is in the hospital. All were employees of the plant.

Steam Routes Workmen.

Approximately 25 men were working in and near the power house when steam began escaping from one of the boilers with a hissing sound that increased rapidly to a roar heard in the shops near the power plant. Attracted by the sound, workmen left their machines and Hayward Niedringhaus, manager of the plant, ran to the scene from his office.

The workmen were coming from the plant, by then filled with steam which continued to come from both boilers. The three men seriously hurt were rescued by fellow workmen who saw their plight and carried them out.

Hayward Niedringhaus said it has not yet been learned what caused the explosion. The boilers were examined a week ago by inspectors sent to the plant by an insurance company, and were found to be in good condition, he said.

The extent of damage done also has not yet been determined, according to Niedringhaus.

900 to Be Idle for Short Time.

The boilers carried 150 pounds of steam each at the time of the explosion. From them power is obtained to operate engines and turbines with an aggregate of 3000 horsepower.

It was necessary, Niedringhaus said, to lay off about 700 men at the plant until tomorrow noon. About 200 men will be idle until the end of the week, he estimated.

The work of repairing the damage done was begun yesterday and

WHY THE OWNER OF $9000 PLANE MUST RIDE TRAIN

Col. Lindbergh Persuades Pilots to Follow Him Instead of Delivering Ship.

In one of the Wisconsin summer resorts north of Milwaukee, Stafford Lambert, wealthy young St. Louisian who flies his own $9000 Ryan monoplane, is reconciling himself to coming home to St. Louis by train instead of by air, as he had expected to do.

The change in his plans was caused by the meeting of two local flyers with Col. Lindbergh while they were en route to Wisconsin with Lambert's plane. They arrived in Chicago—Elmer Dempsey and John Campbell—on Sunday morning, intending to stop there for fuel before continuing northward with Lambert's plane.

While they were there they looked up Colonel Lindbergh, who was overjoyed at meeting them. So much so that he pooh-poohed their protestations that they had to be on their way and insisted that they stay in his suite. Yesterday he insisted that they escort him to St. Louis and they did, deciding that Lambert would forgive them because he learned why they had turned back.

SANITY TESTS FOR GUNMEN AND CRIMINALS IN CHICAGO

Arrest of All Gang Leaders and Their Henchmen Ordered by Chief of Detectives.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Sanity tests as a new weapon against gunmen and criminals has been adopted by the Chicago Police Department.

Chief of Detectives O'Connor said that hereafter when gunmen and other known criminals who are arrested are freed of charges in court they will be taken to the psychopathic hospital and tested as to their sanity.

"If observation proves them insane, we can lock them up," O'Connor said. "If they're not insane, we'll have that on record in case they later are arrested for some crime and plead insanity."

Orders were issued today for police to arrest on sight all known gang leaders and gunmen. As fast as they are brought in, O'Connor said, they will be sent to the psychopathic hospital for examination.

workmen today are connecting steam pipes with boilers in other sections of the plant, to carry steam to the shops which have been closed down due to the explosion.

RS-1 ORDERED BACK FROM DES MOINES VISIT

Unexpected Departure Prevents Part Scheduled in Legion Celebration.

By the Associated Press. DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 16.—Following orders to return immediately to Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., the RS-1, the United States army's largest semi-rigid dirigible, left here at 11:10 a. m., without waiting to circle above the city during the American Legion State convention parade here this afternoon, as had been intended. No reason for the sudden change in plans was given.

The dirigible left its quarters at Scott Field at 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon on order from Assistant Secretary of War Hanford MacNider, former Commander of the American Legion, who was here today for the convention. In charge of Lieut. Col. John A. Paegelow, commandant of Scott Field, the ship was sighted over East Des Moines at 1:05 a. m. It cruised over the city until daylight and then was brought to earth with the aid of 140 National Guardsmen at Camp Dodge. It was piloted by Lieut. O. A. Anderson.

Col. Paegelow had orders to confer here with Assistant Secretary MacNider before taking to the air again.

The dirigible cruised leisurely over Missouri and Iowa. It passed over Hannibal, Mo., at 8:27, and shortly before midnight was circling Newton, Ia., 32 miles east of here. It was in constant radio communication with the Fort Des Moines army post, giving its location and receiving weather reports. Scott Field also was kept informed of its movements.

Recently the RS-1 made a flight to the Atlantic seaboard with its crew of 34 men.

Without butter could a child be strong and healthy?

Possibly... but all health authorities agree that good butter makes children grow. And that lack of butter would result in serious health impairment

The matter of food is most important. No child can grow properly unless fed properly. All will agree to that.

And eminent nutritional authorities are now pointing to the fact that good butter is very vital to children.

McCullum and Simmonds, for example, in their book, "Food, Nutrition and Health," write: "The best sources of it (vitamin A) among foods which are appetizing are butter, whole milk, yolk of egg and green leaves such as we find palatable... Children especially need the vitamin A."

Since good butter contains the highly important property known as vitamin A, well-known and recognized dietitians and physicians agree that it is an essential food for children, especially, and for grown-ups as well.

And vitamin D, the food principle that helps to build strong bones and bodies, is found in good butter, also.

Fortunately, boys and girls like good butter. It is so delicious they all want it. One doesn't have to coax them to eat it, as is the case with many other health foods.

Let them have all the butter they want. Only be sure that it is good butter.

Give this butter to your children

Blue Valley Butter is so carefully safeguarded that all the vitamins found in the pure cream are present in concentrated form.

It therefore is a vitally necessary food for growing children, promoting growth and protecting the health.

But don't just ask for butter. Remember, butter differs very greatly in flavor and keeping qualities as well as in health value. Mothers ought to know something about the butter they serve day after day.

Blue Valley Butter is made only from pure, rich cream that comes in sterilized containers straight from the dairy farms. Before being made into Blue Valley Butter this cream must pass several rigid tests, for none but the best cream, thoroughly pasteurized, is ever used.

To safeguard Blue Valley's high quality—to make certain that each pound contains the essentials for growth and health of children—Blue Valley secured the services of Professor Otto F. Hunziker, the most eminent scientist in this field. Every pound of Blue Valley Butter is made under his supervision.

Blue Valley not only is made under ideal conditions but is delivered to you, untouched by anybody, in triple-sealed packages.

Despite the rigid care used in the selection of cream, the costly scientific methods, the many extra precautions and safeguards, the added cost of Blue Valley Butter is but a trifle.

It comes in three sizes—one pound, one-half pound, and one-quarter pound "sticks" for cutting patties. For your final protection it is always sold in packages, never in bulk.

Try Blue Valley for one week. Then take a family vote as to its quality and flavor. If not at your dealer's, telephone us. We will gladly arrange to supply you. Blue Valley Creamery Company, 2722-24 Pine St., St. Louis. Telephone JEF-ferson 2945.

GARY WILL BE BURIED AT OLD HOME IN ILLINOIS

SERVICES THURSDAY AT WHEATON, ILL.

"He Upheld the Best Ideals of Commerce and Industry," Says Coolidge in Paying Tribute.

By the Associated Press. NE WYORK, Aug. 16.—The body of Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, who died yesterday, was placed aboard special section of the Twentieth Century Limited today for transfer to Wheaton, Ill., where interment will take place Thursday. Only intimate friends of the family were permitted to view the body here today.

The body of the steel magnate was borne from the house in which he died to a motor hearse in a solid bronze casket covered with a blanket of more than 500 roses.

Preceded by a police motor cycle escort, the cortege drove down Fifth avenue and east to the Grand Central Terminal. In the first car behind the hearse the widow rode with a friend of the family. Five of the honorary pall bearers occupied the next two cars and behind them, in some 20 automobiles, rode friends and business associates of Mr. Gary.

The honorary pall bearers present were Lewis Nixon, former assistant secretary of the Navy, former Gov. Nathan I. Miller, James A. Farrell, W. J. Philbin and George K. Leet. The last four named are respectively general counsel, president, controller and secretary of the United States Steel Corporation.

Tributes to the former Illinois farm boy who at 55 became head of the country's first billion dollar corporation were paid by President Coolidge and many of the country's business leaders. "He upheld the best ideals of commerce and industry," President Coolidge said.

Steel Mills to Close. It was announced that all activities of the Steel Corporation, which has more than 200,000 employees, will be suspended on the day of Gary's funeral. The great mills will be shut down for about five minutes and the executive offices will be closed all day. The flags at the company offices will be at half-staff and several banks in the city will pay similar token of respect to the memory of the late industrial leader.

Thousands of messages of condolence and tribute have come in from all over the world.

Visitors who called at the Gary home today to express their sorrow included bank presidents, diplomats, persons high in the social and financial life of the city, and a "white wing" of the street-cleaning department. Dan Murphy, who for years has swept Fifth avenue, in the '30s trundled his little trash cart up to No. 1120, where the body of Gary lies in state, leaned his broom against a lamp post and walked slowly up the front steps. Before the door he dropped to his knees in prayer.

"Judge Gary was a very kindly man," Murphy told Banker Kaufman, who came to the door as he rose. "I feel that he was my friend and I feel a great loss."

Wife Absent From Death Room. When Gary died yesterday two doctors and a nurse who have been in constant attendance, were with him. Mrs. Gary, who has been the only person other than attendants who had been permitted to visit him since the relapse, was not in the room at the time.

Gary and his wife moved to the house in which he died when he turned over the famous Gary mansion farther down Fifth avenue to a trust company last December to establish a trust fund for his wife, two daughters and two grandchildren. The mansion now is being torn down to give way to a 12-story co-operative apartment house in which it was understood the Garys were to have a special suite of their own.

Steel Mills to Close Two Hours for Gary's Funeral.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Ind., Aug. 16.—The great mills of the U. S. Steel Corporation will halt operations during the burial of Elbert H. Gary, the Chicago lawyer who conceived the great corporation and succeeded in establishing it with himself at its head for about a quarter of a century.

GARY WILL BE BURIED AT OLD HOME IN ILLINOIS

SERVICES THURSDAY AT WHEATON, ILL.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—The body of Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, who died yesterday, was placed aboard a special section of the Twentieth Century Limited today for transfer to Wheaton, Ill., where interment will take place Thursday.

Only intimate friends of the family were permitted to view the body here today. The body of the steel magnate was borne from the house in which he died to a motor-hearse in a solid bronze casket covered with a blanket of more than 500 roses. Preceded by a police motor cycle escort, the cortege drove down Fifth avenue and east to the Grand Central Terminal. In the first car behind the hearse the widow rode with a friend of the family. Five of the honorary pall bearers occupied the next two cars and behind them, in some 20 automobiles, rode friends and business associates of Mr. Gary.

The honorary pall bearers present were Lewis Nixon, former assistant Secretary of the Navy, former Gov. Nathan L. Miller, James A. Farrell, W. J. Philbin and George K. Leet. The last four named are respectively general counsel, president, comptroller and secretary of the United States Steel Corporation.

Tributes to the former Illinois farm boy who at 35 became head of the country's first billion dollar corporation were paid by President Coolidge and many of the country's business leaders. "He upheld the best ideals of commerce and industry," President Coolidge said.

Steel Mills to Close. It was announced that all activities of the Steel Corporation, which has more than 300,000 employees, will be suspended on the day of Gary's funeral. The great mills will be shut down for about five minutes and the executive offices will be closed all day. The flags at the company offices will be at half-staff and several banks in the city will pay similar tokens of respect to the memory of the late industrial leader.

Thousands of messages of condolence and tribute have come in from all over the world. Visitors who called at the Gary home today to express their sorrow included bank presidents, diplomats, persons high in the social and financial life of the city, and a "white wing" of the street-cleaning department. Dan Murphy, who for years has swept Fifth avenue, in the '90s trundled his little trash cart up to No. 1130, where the body of Gary lies in state, leaned his broom against a lamp post and walked slowly up the front steps. Before the door he dropped to his knees in prayer.

"Judge Gary was a very kindly man," Murphy told Banker Kaufman, who came to the door as he rose. "I feel that he was my friend and I feel a great loss."

With Absent From Death Room. When Gary died yesterday two doctors and a nurse who have been in constant attendance, were with him. Mrs. Gary, who has been the only person other than attendants who had been permitted to visit him since the relapse, was not in the room at the time.

Gary and his wife moved to the house in which he died when he turned over the famous Gary mansion farther down Fifth avenue to a trust company last December to establish a trust fund for his wife, two daughters and two grandchildren. The mansion now is being torn down to give way to a 12-story co-operative apartment house in which it was understood the Garys were to have a special suite of their own.

Gary, the Chicago lawyer who conceived the great corporation and succeeded in establishing it with himself at its head for about a quarter of a century.

RADICALS AGAIN HOPE TO CAPTURE SHANGHAI

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1927. SHANGHAI, Aug. 16.—Shanghai communists, now that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek has resigned as leader of the Nationalists, hope to be able to seize the international settlement as well as Chinese areas. This is what the communists wanted to do in Shanghai last March, but British troops barred them from the international settlement at the north and west, and the French protected their own concession to the south. Immediately thereafter, Chiang Kai-shek's troops turned machine guns on the communist strongholds.

It is not likely that the communists will have better luck now, but they seem to be counting on the assistance of a Chinese military force now here—the army of Gen. Chow Fengchi, which long has been suspected of communist sympathies. Chow is supposedly a friend of the so-called "Christian General," Feng Yu-hsiang, at least a nominal ally of the extreme Nationalists.

Meantime Chinese Shanghai is practically without government, the Mayor, Gen. Wang Fu, with five important committees, having resigned. Nevertheless order has been maintained so far. The retreat of the Nanking Nationalist armies along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway continues. Wireless advice from up the Yangtze are that the Nationalists appear to have retired to Chuchow, 30 miles north of Pukow. More than 5000 soldiers have crossed from the north bank of the Yangtze to Chin-kiang. About 45,000 Southerners are now there. The city is overflowing with soldiers. Several thousand more are still on the Grand Canal between Yangchow and Kaoyu.

Chinkiang is on the south bank of the Yangtze, 43 miles down river from Nanking. Yangchow is on the north bank, opposite Chinkiang, and Kaoyu is about 75 miles farther north on the Grand Canal.

OGDEN ARMOUR DIES AFTER SIEGE OF TYPHOID FEVER

The Hibernian Banking Association of Chicago, and the Northwestern National Insurance Company of Milwaukee. He also established Armour & Co. Ltd. of London.

Business took most of his time and he devoted little attention to society although grand opera was one diversion.

Antitrust Suit of 1911.

In 1911, Mr. Armour and nine other Chicago packers were tried in the Federal Courts in Chicago on alleged violation of the Sherman antitrust act. The defense offered no testimony in answer to the Government's case and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Mr. Armour perpetuated the charitable and educational work founded by his father. He made large donations to hospitals and relief work, but never allowed his name to become public in these transactions. Armour Institute of Technology benefited by his generosity. When the school needed room he purchased an 80-acre golf links in the South Shore district at a reported price of $1,000,000 and announced his intention of building a new home for the school on the site.

He was one of the largest operators in the Chicago market of Trade, and in one sensational contest with James A. Patten over control of the wheat market he was said to have won more than $1,000,000 in a few weeks.

He lived in summer on his model farm at Lake Forest, Ill. After the World War he left the management of the packing company largely to his nephews, Philip D. Armour III and Lester Armour, that he might have more time for his other commercial interests.

Soon after January, 1921, the Interstate Commerce Commission denied him the right to sit as a director for both the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway and the Illinois Central Railroad. In August of the same year, he announced his resignation from the board of the National City Bank of New York, a post he held for many years.

From that time Mr. Armour continued to surrender his position as a banker. Prior to July, 1922, he was powerful in Chicago banking circles, for several years being listed as the city's largest individual owner of bank stock. In the spring of that year he disposed of large holdings in the Central Trust Co. of Illinois and in July received in excess of $2,700,000 for the sale of his holdings in the Continental and Commercial National Bank. About this time virtually all of Mr. Armour's real estate holdings in Chicago were disposed of. Most of his estate, Melody Farm, was sold. Two years later, the sale of Armour's stock in the Union Stock Yards at Omaha, Neb., was announced.

In January, 1927, Mr. Armour resigned from the board of the Continental and Commercial National Bank and two months later gave up his seat on the Chicago Stock Exchange, saying he had discontinued active trading.

Although on Jan. 2, 1928, Mr. Armour resigned as president of all the Armour interests, he became chairman of the board and continued in close touch with the packing and grain holdings. His resignation as active head was said to have been a part of plans for the merger of Armour & Co. with Morris & Co. One explanation of the sweeping reorganization from 1922 to 1928 was that Mr. Armour had made a personal loan of $10,000,000 for carrying out various mergers, and that he was desirous of liquidating personal liabilities.

In November, 1925, Mr. Armour announced his plan of merging Armour & Co. with other packing interests, which finally resulted in Morris & Co.'s being absorbed, producing assets of $500,000,000 for Armour & Co.

The Armour Grain Co., which became one of the largest in the world, with business in cash wheat sometimes as high as 5,000,000 bushels a day, was organized by Mr. Armour in 1890. On Aug. 1, 1924, it was merged with the Rosenhau Grain Corporation to form the Grain Marketing Co., which came into existence as a price-stabilizing organization. It was operated on the co-operative principle, but the farmers failed to purchase stock. In July of the next year the new company failed.

Charge of fraud were made and court action threatened, but the Armour interests and the Rosenhau brothers agreed to arbitrate.

The Armour Grain Co. was finally directed to pay approximately $1,000,000, the loss falling largely upon Mr. Armour and his two nephews. The arbitrator announced, however, that he found nothing to indicate the Armour's personal complicity in frauds perpetrated by company employees.

The Armour Grain Co.'s trading privileges on the Chicago Board of Trade were suspended last April.

200 MINERS JOIN WALKOUT

By the Associated Press. CENTRALIA, Ill., Aug. 16.—Twenty-five idle union miners from Christian County and Southern Illinois visited the works of the Marion County Coal Co. here and persuaded 200 miners to walk out.

This mine is the largest in the State working under a separate agreement by the terms of the Jacksonville wage scale pending a settlement of the wage scale controversy. This is the second "wildcat" strike within a week. Fifty men walked out at Edinburg Aug. 1, but returned to work the following day when union officers promised drastic action to keep them from violating their working agreement. The idle miners professed dissatisfaction with the police.

NEW BUILDING PLANS DISCUSSED

Assistant Secretary of Treasury and Assistant Postmaster-General Hope for $200,000,000 Fund.

By the Associated Press.
RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 16.—
Events at the summer White House are so shaping themselves that the President and Mrs. Coolidge may prolong their visit to the Black Hills until late in September.

Mr. Coolidge's calendar appears to be filling rather than diminishing as the days go on, with engagements dated now as late as the second week of next month.
The Rapid City High School, where the chief executive has his temporary offices, has arranged to delay opening until Sept. 15 "or even later," although school was to have opened Sept. 6.

Tomorrow the President will view the Indians on the Government reservation at the Pine Ridge agency, where another native Indian program has been prepared for him.
The Indians will employ the hour that Mr. Coolidge is their guest by showing him how their forefathers did their war dances. In full response of war paint, feathers and tom-toms, Indians plan to shout their war whoops and perform their antics for the President's approval.
He will make the trip by train and motor.

The next day Mr. Coolidge is to visit a Government veterans' hospital at Hot Springs, S. D., going by special train.

The summer White House also has indicated that Mr. Coolidge will visit three or four South Dakota cities, one of them Newell, on Sept. 2.

In addition there are indications that he has decided to go to the Yellowstone National Park next week. There was no official confirmation available, but some announcement from the White House is in prospect.

Railroad officials who have been in Rapid City with an itinerary have routed the President to enter the park at Gardiner, Wyo., leaving the Black Hills next Sunday.
After four to six days in the park,
Mr. Coolidge would return to the game lodge here.

The hope expressed by the Rev.
Hush L. Burleson, Episcopal Bishop of South Dakota, that President Coolidge will see something of the present-day Indian, "besides the feathers, war paint and war whoops in which he is pictured," was expected to be fulfilled when the President visits Pine Ridge Reservation, but it was learned last night that again he will see the Indian only in his old-time dress and characterization.

The Bishop's protest against the publicity which has attended Mr.
Coolidge's connection with the Indians so far, reflects the attitude generally held by those who wish the Indians, more modern habits stressed.

Tax Cut Possible.
Tax reduction next session is possible, it was reiterated today at the summer White House, but President Coolidge believes the extent will be governed strictly by expenditures authorized by Congress at its approaching session.

The tentative budget already approved by the President for next year's Government expenses will permit of tax reduction despite first apprehensions.

It was recalled today that the President put the question of a tax cut up to the last Congress, but that it felt disposed to wait until this session. If the question of reduction in Federal levies were left entirely to him, Mr. Coolidge feels warranted, on the basis of the prospective surplus in sight, to go ahead on a tax cut. But he thinks Congress is usually disposed to spend considerable money for various projects and therefore the problem is in its hands.

Plans for the construction of new Federal buildings were discussed yesterday by the President with Carl T. Schuneman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and John H. Bartlett, Assistant Postmaster-General. After their visit they said plans were going ahead in the hope that Congress would increase the allotment for Federal buildings outside of the District of Columbia from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000.

If all the needed Federal buildings were to be erected at once, they said, an appropriation of about $300,000,000 would be required, but under the present plan of spreading the total appropriation over a period of years, the building program never catches up with itself.

They said bids probably would be called for in connection with a $1,700,000 Federal building at St.
Louis next fall. Legislation to permit the selection of a new site is needed first.

Miss Mittie Peck Given New Post.
Miss Mittie E. Peck, supervisor of the Southern Division, Visiting

Nurse Association of St. Louis, has been appointed superintendent of the Visiting Nurse Association of St. Clair County. It was announced at a meeting of the board of the association in East St. Louis yesterday. Miss Peck succeeded Mrs.
Linda Hayes, who resigned to accept an appointment from the East St. Louis Board of Education.

Seamed Coats Come High.

Women will pay high for a seamed and lined coat for winter. The coats will have a slightly flaring line and this can hardly be accomplished without seams. The designers have made a virtue or rather an embellishment of a necessity and used the seams in carefully worked out designs to decorate the garments. Fur trimmings promise to be very elaborate.

What do, what can the wise men say, one wonders—

(Being wise, they'd never yield to black despair!)

When "fortune blasts their lives,"

black blunders

Ruin their tight-hugged hopes

Don't told they, clear-eyed, cling to singing "truth,"

Crushing the adder close, by night, by day;

There was a fool; in a like circumstance

He fought his fate, refused to be her slave;

The courts may not sympathize

just cause for separation not laid perpetually inquires why she never

When he swears and fumes because she can't find the pipe, the reading glasses, or the crossword

puzzle book which he has put away in a place that he can't remember—and that she never can.

When he asks her where she'd like to go on the after-dinner drive and then objects to every route

he suggests.

When she's been trying her hardest to keep the household bills

down, because he thinks they would be too expensive—and he suddenly brings home some superfluous which has caught his eye and for which he's paid more dollars

than she's saved cents.

When he notices her new dress and asks if it isn't "pretty young for her."

When he begins to call her "mother" or "old lady."

When he contradicts or bullies

her before the friend whose husband—at least in public—is a modest of polite consideration.

When he never even notices that she is unusually tired or nervous, and expects her to endure unconditionally and even sympathetical-

THE USEFUL ENSEMBLE IS COMING AGAIN INTO ITS OWN

SCHWEIG

Ensemble of tweed. Coat and skirt of tweed; coat lined with brown satin, deep collar and cuffs of beaver. Tailored blouse of tan flat crepe.

THE ensemble is coming into its own in popular favor with smart dressers, according to Miss Ethel Pabst, apparel buyer for a St. Louis dry goods company. Miss Pabst has just returned from the East, where she has been making a study of the advanced styles for late fall and early winter. A number of the new ensembles are shown at the St. Louis Fashion Pageant, in progress at the Garden Theater.

"The smart dresser, who looks to the practical phase of style," said Miss Pabst, "will have at least one modish ensemble in her wardrobe. They are all the vogue in European and Eastern style centers."

"The ensemble this season is very smart in line. It is the most practical garment ever introduced by fashion creators as it is being made this season. One wonders that its possibilities were not discovered ere this. The ensemble is made in two weights of material. The coat and skirt are of a heavy material, such as tweed, broadcloth or Kasha, or the new novelty Rodier cloth, while the bodice is fashioned out of heavy crepe or light weight woolen materials.

"The coat is made full fashioned and lined and inter-lined so that it can be worn as a separate garment with other dresses. The dress of the ensemble is so fashioned that it can be worn as an individual garment, either with or without a separate fur.

"The models shown in the St. Louis Fashion Pageant are very smart and demonstrate the utility of the ensemble. For smartness and practical wear the ensemble even surpasses the tailored suit."

The St. Louis Fashion Pageant will close tomorrow night.

Novelty Rodier cloth and flat crepe ensemble. Blouse long straight lines, tailored of flat crepe; coat and skirt of Rodier cloth in novelty weave. Coat finished with collar and cuffs of Ringtail fur.

OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

I CAN.

WHAT is the gift that you first would choose, could you take one and the rest refuse? Out of life's limitless bright array what would you welcome most gladly, say? Would it be honors and pride of place, hope of a name which would thrill the race? Would it be wealth matching Midas' stores? What would you ask, if the choice were yours?

Ensemble of beige and old rose Kasha cloth. Blouse of old rose Kasha trimmed with amber, rose and white beads and wool embroidery. Skirt plaited front flare. Coat beige Kasha lined with rose flat crepe, finished with deep collar and cuffs of otter.

Out of the bounteous blessings of Earth what do I hold as of greatest worth? What would I choose, could I shape the plan? Only the power to say: "I can." Only the pride of the soul that knows something of force from its being flows. This is the spirit's chief talisman, strength of the will as it says "I can."

No Escape From Sleeves.

Like it or not, you probably will wear sleeves next winter even in Bermuda, Nassau, Florida or Southern California. Only the sleeves for those warm climates will be short sleeves. In the North the tight sleeves seem destined to remain as well as the full sleeve which is caught at the wrist. The sleeves will be the landing field of a multitude of embroideries.

LAUGHING AROUND THE WORLD

with IRVIN S. COBB

From the Academy of a Lost Art. SINCE the "We-Have-With-Us-Tonight" scourge has fallen upon this broad land there has been some talk about abolishing after-dinner speakers entirely. Up-to-date the suggestion has not borne much fruit but the movement nevertheless is not without support.

At a recent New York dinner one of the most painful of the offenders held down the perishing auditors until the banquet table was decimated. When the human pestilence was at the end of his rope Jack Wheeler took him by the arm and led him into the hall.

"Why didn't you open a school for after-dinner speakers?" he inquired with solicitude. "It would be a fine idea to give some of these birds a little advice. And you're the boy to do it."

"That would be a difficult art to impart," said the wind-bag. "What, for example, should I instruct them to do?"

"Tell 'em all to lay off," said Jack.

Youth's Rule

in skin care to keep that schoolgirl complexion

By NORMA SHEARER

BEAUTIFUL complexions MAY be guarded easily if one will only learn this simple beauty rule. Today thousands credit it with added charm and loveliness—with keeping that schoolgirl complexion.

Yet of itself it is simple and economical, unlike most "rules" for skin care.

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap. Massage its balmy olive and palm oil lather into the skin. Then rinse with warm water, and follow with a dash of cold.

Do this regularly, and especially at night, for one week. Note how much better your skin. Use powder and make-up all you wish. But never leave them on over night. If your skin is inclined to be naturally dry, apply a little good cold cream.

That marks the modern idea in beauty culture—the proved formula for keeping "that schoolgirl complexion."

But be sure you get the real Palmolive. A soap made solely for the purpose: to guard your skin. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Its results are proved by countless schoolgirl complexions everywhere.

Get Palmolive now. Use no other on your face. Experimenting with unproved soaps is a folly. Good complexions are too priceless for that. The Palmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

Abie's Irish Rose

AS THE STORY GOES.

Hot blood is up in the Solomon Levy home, in the Bronx of New York, when an Irishman like Patrick Murphy finds he has a son-in-law named Abraham Levy, and a good Jew like Solomon Levy discovers that he is afflicted with a daughter-in-law named Rose-Mary. At the insistence of old Solomon, who thought the girl his son brought home was named "Rose Murpheski," a wedding had been arranged for the young people with Rabbi Samuels officiating. The young people whose romance began in France during the war submit to the ceremony—though they had previously been married secretly by a Methodist minister—because they wish to gain Solomon's good will. While the wedding is taking place in one room, Patrick Murphy, who thinks his daughter is marrying an Irish lad named "Michael McGee," has arrived with his friend Father Whalen, and is forestalled by Solomon. When they discover what the young people have done, they vent their racial animosity upon each other with good Father Whalen attempting to stop the hostilities. Just then Rabbi Samuels enters the room and recognizes the priest as one whom he met on the battlefields of France.

CHAPTER II

"FATHER WHALEN!" cried Dr. Samuels.
"Rabbi Samuels," murmured Father Whalen.
Their hands clasped in a fervent grip. For a moment neither spoke.

"Well, well, well! I never believed coincidence," said Father Whalen, at length.

"They always say it shouldn't be used in fiction—it occurs too often in life," smiled the other. "After all, fact is a great deal stranger than fiction, isn't it?"

"It certainly is," said Father Whalen. "Here we are, confronted on our very first meeting with one of those distressing situations we discussed that night in France—a case of religious prejudice."

"It is a lamentable thing, for Abie is a wonderful boy," declared Dr. Samuels.

"And Rose-Mary is a wonderful girl," said Father Whalen.

"And they love each other dearly," echoed the Rabbi.

"They probably think nothing of the religious or racial differences which separate their parents," mused the priest.

He glanced toward the door and frowned.

"I tried to argue with Patrick, but he wouldn't listen. He wants to know what love has to do with the matter. He's too bitter. It looks like a war to the end between the Levys and Murphys."

"I pity the young folks greatly," said Dr. Samuels, sadly shaking his head.

"But what are we going to do about it? Surely we ought to do something."

"Yes, we should. But what? I'm afraid that it's almost too late to do a thing."

Father Whalen nodded soberly.

"There's no use locking the barn door after the horse is gone, that's sure. You married them, didn't you?"

"I did." And Dr. Samuels smiled. "Solomon asked me to tie the knot good and tight."

Father Whalen chuckled.

"Well, we'll have to do what we can. We can work out something, perhaps. We must do our best."

"Have you any suggestions?"

"I'm not sure. Let's see. I have one more chance with Solomon. I might use it."

"What will that be?"

"Well, the holiday Purim will be celebrated on the fourteenth day of March, a few days off. This holiday, as you know, has been celebrated by the Jews for two thousand years, to commemorate the miraculous escape of their forefathers from wholesale destruction in the Persian Empire, under the reign of Ahasuerus, or Xerxes."

"I remember."

"There is no need to tell you the story, which as you know, is found in the book of Esther. Yashit, the queen of Ahasuerus, refused to appear in person—in the scanty attire no doubt demanded—before her liege lord while he was making merry with his princes and boasting about her beauty. A martial storm broke, and the King did away with her—probably beheaded her, as an example to all other wives in the Kingdom, a lesson not to disobey their husbands."

"Well, it was then that he cast about for another queen. You remember the passage runs." And in this beautiful voice, Rabbi Samuels quoted the old chapter: "And the King's servants said, 'And let the King appoint officers in all the provinces of his Kingdom, that they may gather together all the fair young virgins into Shushan, the palace, to the house of the women, unto the custody of Hega, the King's chamberlain, keeper of the women; and let these things for purification be given them. And let the maiden that please the King be Queen instead of Yashit. And the thing pleased the King and he did so.'"

"Well, as you know, Hadassah, or Esther, Jewess, was among those gathered together in Shushan, the palace. And it was she that pleased the King and he married her, not knowing she was a Jewess. Later when there was a royal decree to kill all the Jews, Esther declared herself and saved the race. So the Jews celebrated."

"Now the point that I will endeavor to make with Solomon is, that he, an orthodox Jew, celebrated the feast of Purim, which commemorates the marriage of a Jewess to one of another religion—which marriage saved her race. Yet Solomon objects to Abie marrying Rose! Surely that should carry its lesson!"

He stopped, with a smile, and Father Whalen nodded his head in instant confirmation.

"I only wish," he declared, still smiling, "that I could find in the writings of our Church an equally impressive bit of history, dealing with an Irishman's successful marriage to a Jewess! It might bring Patrick around."

"Behind him, as he spoke, the door of the conservatory opened and some of the bridesmaids came hurrying in, surrounding him. They were all of them excited, and some were in tears; and close behind them came Rose-Mary, visibly wrought up.

She stopped alert at sight of Father Whalen, and then, with a little scream of joy, ran and threw herself into his arms.

"Oh, Father Whalen!" she cried.

"Rose! . . . There, there, my child."

Father Whalen held her close, patting her shoulders.

"Oh, Father! Can't you do something with Dad—he's gone out of his head," she sobbed.

Father Whalen held her a little away from him.

"Is he so angry, then? Poor Patrick!" And he glanced at the other young women. "Fath, dear, your bridesmaids look frightened to death!"

"They have reason to, Father," wept Rose-Mary. "Dad's so furious."

"Is he?"

"You should hear him fighting with Abie's father! Oh! Such language!" She put her hands over her ears.

The Greatest Story in the World—By Kor

And the Lord said unto Moses, Stretch forth thine hand toward heaven, that there may be hail in all the land of Egypt. And Moses stretched forth his rod toward heaven: and the Lord sent thunder and hail, and the fire ran along upon the ground; and the Lord rained hail upon the land of Egypt. And the hail smote throughout all the land of Egypt all that was in the field, both man and beast; and the hail smote every herb of the field, and brake every tree of the field. Only in the land of Goshen, where the children of Israel were, was there no hail.

The Bible in Pictures

And Pharaoh sent, and called for Moses and Aaron, and said unto them, I have sinned this time: the Lord is righteous, and I and my people are wicked. Intreat the Lord (for it is enough) that there be no more thunderings and hail, and I will let you go, and ye shall stay no longer. And Moses said unto them, As soon as I go out of the city, I will spread abroad my hands unto the Lord; and the thunder shall cease, neither shall there be any more hail; that thou mayest know how that the earth is the Lord's. But as for thee and thy servants, I know that ye will not yet fear the Lord God.

Ready...Action...CAMERA!

-Everyone can make good Movies now

HAVE you ever made a movie of your boy in action? Just as he is today? As he never will be again? And have you ever shown that movie in your own home, on your own silver screen? If you haven't, this message is addressed to you.

For the day of Home Movies is here. Now, thanks to years of research and experiment in the laboratories of the Eastman Kodak Company, you can make real movies of your children, your friends, of the places you go, with the assurance of professional results.

Home movie making—simplified. Anyone who can take an ordinary snap-shot can make a Cine-Kodak Movie. The camera is simplicity itself! You sight it either from waist height or eye level. Then just press a button... instantly it whirls into action... every scene before you, every changing sequence of light and shadow... is registered for all time on your film.

No focusing. No tripod. No grinding crank. Just a simple button to press when you wish to make a picture. A smooth-action, spring-driven motor takes care of the rest.

Then, no troublesome developing. No bother or fuss. Your films are finished at no extra cost, and returned to you ready to run and show on your own silver screen.

Now costs only $140

Cine-Kodak embodies Eastman's forty years' experience in devising easy picture-making methods for the amateur. Unbiased by the precedents and prejudices of professional cinema camera design, the men who made "still" photography so easy have now made home movie-making equally simple for you.

Today a complete outfit, Cine-Kodak, Kodascope Projector and Screen, may be had for as little as $140. Cine-Kodak weighs only 5 lbs. Loads in daylight with amateur standard (16 m/m) Cine-Kodak safety film, in the famous yellow box. See dealers listed below for demonstration.

Many Mental Ills Curable

By CHAS. A. L. REED, M. D., Former President of the American Medical Association.

SO-CALLED "organic" mental disease is due to some injury to the tissues of which the brain is made. An injury to the skull may very easily cause mental trouble by damaging the brain. A heavy blow on the head, even if it does not fracture the skull and the patient appears to be perfectly well after it, may be the cause of epileptic fits, loss of memory, delusions and other kinds of disordered thought and conduct. General paralysis of the insane is the result of slow destruction of the brain by syphilis.

Many of these injuries to the brain can be cured. The surgeon may remove a splinter of bone that is pressing on a part of the brain, and time and nursing will often cure the insanity of poisoning. What is so important to remember is that nearly all insanity is curable if the patient is treated soon enough. Even now, always, discounting senile cases, half the inmates of the average mental hospital recover and improve sufficiently to be able to leave, and if people would get over their fear of mental disease as madness, the proportion would be much higher.

"Asylums," or "mental hospitals," as everyone ought now to call them, are far from being the terrible places they were 100 years ago. They are usually more bright and comfortable than ordinary hospitals; their doctors and nurses are just as anxious to cure their patients and the patients them-

Brings sleep . . . quickly—and naturally

FOR over a third of a century physicians have prescribed Horlick's Malted Milk, at night, for healthful sleep.

It relaxes and soothes at once. Sound, refreshing sleep seldom fails to follow.

Medical men recommend it because they know exactly what it contains. There are no secrets. "Horlick's" contains only full-cream cow's milk and extracts of choice malted grains—rich in vitamins and mineral elements.

You can prepare it at home in a minute. Take a glass to-night before retiring—and enjoy a full night of sound, upbuilding sleep. Be sure it's "Horlick's"—the original and genuine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—What England "regarded as her bread lines" and what America chose to regard as England's "commercial lines" were the greatest factors resulting in the disagreement at the recent Naval Arms Conference held at Geneva, according to Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, who arrived here on the United States liner Leviathan.

Admiral Jones, who assisted Hugh Gibson in heading the American delegation to the conference on the limitation of naval armaments, first explained the difference in terms. "Bread lines," he stated, were what England regarded as necessary to her actual existence in emergency. "Commercial lines" were held to be interests England wished to protect to maintain her commercial and business contacts.

He also expressed his appreciation for the backing of the American Government, and also declared that the publicity attending the conference "had opened America's eyes to the need of a greater merchant marine necessary not only to sustain prosperity in peace, but to be used as an auxiliary naval unit in times of war."

Admiral Jones returned with his advisory council, Admirals Frank Schofield, Capt. A. Andrews, Capt. A. Hendon, Capt. W. W. Smith, Commander H. H. Frost, and Lieut. Commander T. Train.

Adequate Commercial Fleet.
"We come back without any agreement, as is, of course, generally known. We hope this meeting a conservative building up of the United States Navy to the proper position," said Admiral Jones.
"What we need now is an adequate commercial fleet, which would act as an arm to our navy. We need a fleet to take our goods to foreign countries and to return with foreign goods, thus serving as our own carrying trade unit."

"The American delegates were happy to receive the Rock of Gibraltar support from their Government. I think the British merely stood by what they considered was for the best national interests. There is a certain degree of justice in what they thought necessary for the protection of their bread lines. But there should be a distinction drawn between Great Britain's bread line and their far-flung lines of commercial communication."

In a talk with Admiral Field (Great Britain), he stressed the necessity of England maintaining its bread line, and said that in the hour of need, England could exist only a few months with the food supplies on hand. I replied that it was more than a bread line—that it was also their commercial line."

Supported by Madden.
Admiral Jones was inclined to minimize the value of disarmament conferences, saying he had learned from actual experience that as soon as discussion arose regarding the need of a fleet, certain nations would be apt to purchase large supplies of arms. The hoped, he said, that disarmament would affect future plans and the present standing.

Agreeing with Admiral Jones in regard to an American merchant marine was Representative Martin B. Madden of Illinois, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, who headed a sub-committee to study foreign shipping conditions. He returned on the Leviathan with New York, James A. Freer of Wisconsin and A. T. Treadway of Massachusetts.

"Our navy is incomplete without merchant ships as an auxiliary," Madden said. "It may mean that we are going to build more ships. After conducting this investigation, I personally favor a fleet equal to that of foreign nations in order that we can move our American produce and so that we will not be in a position to permit foreign shipping companies to boost prices whenever they please."

LINDBERGH URGES ST. LOUIS TO ACT NOW AND BECOME AERONAUTICAL CENTER

Tells Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Guests Dozen Cities Are Striving to Seize Opportunity and Winner Will Dominate Industry.

St. Louis has an opportunity to become the center of the aeronautical industry in this country just as Detroit became the center of the automobile industry, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh told the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at Hotel Statler today, but it must capitalize the chance at once or it is lost.
Turning away from the prepared speech he is delivering at various cities the flying colonel devoted his talk to opportunities of St.
Louis in aviation, a subject with which he is familiar because of his residence here. In his audience were 100 executives of St. Louis civic organizations and the Chambers of Commerce of neighboring towns.

"A dozen cities in the United States now have the opportunity to be to the aviation industry what Detroit is to the automotive business," he said. "And I think I am safe in saying that the natural opportunities of this city are just a bit better toward attaining that end than those of any other."

Advantages and Facilities.
"We must bear in mind, however, that the center of aviation activity will be where natural advantages are multiplied by the provision of facilities that flyers need. Any city that has a good situation and is willing to spend a few hundred thousand dollars, and do it quickly, cannot fail to become a flying center."

"Just now, Chicago, as an example, has more commercial flying activity than St. Louis. The transcontinental mail route carries through it and it is the focal point for many contract air mail lines.
But compare its situation to that of St. Louis."

City's Ideal Situation.
"Here is an ideal spot on the proposed airway between New York and Los Angeles, a projected mail route that will, believe me, carry more traffic than the Northern route through Chicago. It is also ideally situated for a stop on a route between Chicago and New Orleans. Finally it is a natural focal point for dozens of shorter lines because of its central location."

"We must remember, however, that St. Louis has no purely natural advantages that other cities cannot overcome by the expenditure of money. Air lines are not confined to the natural, natural course as are railroads and highways. It makes little difference to us whether we fly over mountains and woods or over flat country."

Effects of Competition.
"Of course, the first need of any city is a good airport. I think it safe to say that if Kansas City,
for example, should build a better air-

ALBANIANS AND ITALIANS IN CLASH NEAR SCUTARI

Report From Belgrade States Dead and Wounded Were Seen on Both Sides After Fight.

By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, Austria, Aug. 16.—Dispatches from Belgrade, the Jugo-Slav capital, say it is learned that Albanian soldiers clashed with Italian military instructors yesterday at Scutari, and that there were dead and wounded on both sides.

Italy holds a mandate from the great Powers, conferred by the Council of Ambassadors, to maintain peace in Albania.

Belgrade has been a clearing house for reports concerning Albania ever since the signing last year of the treaty between the Albanian and Italian Governments.
The Jugo-Slavs charged that the treaty contained secret clauses enabling Italy to exercise undue influence over Albania, to the detriment of Jugo-Slavia. This was denied from Rome.

Jugo-Slavia's special interest in the matter is based apparently on feeling that Italy, by controlling the small country across the Adriatic, would by the same token control the Adriatic Sea, thus being able to cut Jugo-Slavia off from the Mediterranean.

Two months ago an incident arose when Jugo-Slavia charged that an employee of her legation in Albania had been arrested on a charge of espionage. Diplomatic relations were severed and the situation appeared threatening, but the matter was smoothed over through the good offices of the great Powers.

RIVER PLANS WILL

None of 7 Proposed Projects
Will Require Large Sums at Present, Secretary As-

PREDICTS FAVORABLE
ACTION BY CONGRESS

About $30,000,000 Will Be Needed Yearly for Mississippi and Boulder Dam Work, He Declares.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 16.— Construction of seven great engineering projects contemplated by the Federal Government, including the development of the Colorado River and Mississippi flood control, will not seriously disturb the national budget, said here yesterday.

The Secretary, who yesterday predicted action by the next session of Congress on the proposed dam-ing of the Colorado for flood relief, power development and irrigation purposes, said there would be no necessity for abandoning radical reductions in taxes. Among other projects contemplated by the Government are the inland waterways system, development of the Columbia River basin, the St. Lawrence international canal and the regulation of the Great Lakes level.

"None of these projects," Hoover said, "has as yet reached the stage where vast amounts of money are necessary to be appropriated. All of them, excepting those affecting the Colorado and Mississippi, are in such a preliminary stage that preliminary appropriations will be asked about $30,000,000 will be required annually to carry on the work upon the proposed Boulder Canyon dam and the Mississippi projects."

Relatively Small Amount.
"This is relatively a small amount and its appropriation will be the only pending congressional session will in no way offset the tax reduction plan proposed by Secretary Mellon.
Therefore, it is not to be considered that the government is anywhere near a financial crisis, and adequate financing will in any event be available to carry out the development of the Colorado River.
The only thing necessary is to establish a plan between the States of the Colorado River area touching the proper plan of proposed development. That such an agreement will be arrived at in the forthcoming conference of Government of these States is pretty generally admitted. I anticipate favorable action upon the Colorado project at the next session of Congress."

Secretary Hoover will leave Thursday for Washington for a short official conference prior to going again into the flood areas of the Lower Mississippi. He is planning a fishing expedition to Santa Catalina Island for the next few days.

U. S.-MEXICAN TREATY SIGNED

Pact Extends Claims Convention
Two Years.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The agreement extending for two years the provisions of the general claims convention between the United States and Mexico was signed today at the State Department by Secretary Kellogg and Ambassador Teller. As originally drawn, the convention would have terminated the work of the general claims commission on August 30, 1927.

Under the agreement the commission is specifically denied jurisdiction over any claim for loss or damage filed subsequent to Aug.
30, 1927. The extension was agreed upon to permit sufficient time for examination and adjudication of claims before the end of this month.

A summary of the work of the commission made public by the State Department showed that of 51 American claims already heard and decided, 30 were made in 36 cases aggregating $2,221,659 in favor of the United States. The total amount involved in the 51 cases of American claims aggregated $3,790,796.

WOMEN ASK FOR CHURCH RECOGNITION

For First Time, Feminine Delegates Present Appeal to World Conference.

By the Associated Press.
LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Aug.
16.—For the first time since the opening of the world conference on faith and order, the voice of its seven women delegates, of whom four are Americans, was heard today, when they presented a signed appeal for greater recognition of the members of their sex in the councils of the churches.

The women met in private and drew up their statement. Addressing her sisters, one of the feminine delegates asserted that wherever more women than men went to church and that the women did most of the work in the churches, the men occupied all the places on the boards.

The four women delegates from the United States are Miss Margaret Slattery of Boston, Mrs. Albert J. Lyman of Brooklyn, Prof.
Eliza H. Hendrick of Wellesley, Mass., and Mrs. Wesley Boyd of Shenandoah, Va.

The only recognition accorded women by the conference was the designation of Miss Lucy Gardner of England as bellringer or timekeeper of speeches by the men.

The prayers of all that the gift of women as men, clerical and lay, may be offered and to the utmost in the great task that lies before us, namely, evangelization of the world, through a church united."

Committee to Draft Reports.
Four Americans were appointed yesterday to a committee of 13 to draft a final report on six questions affecting church doctrines.

The four men selected were the Rev. Charles H. Brent, Presbyterian Episcopal Bishop of Western
New York, the Rev. Dr. J. Ross
Stevenson, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, Presbyterian; Prof. William Adams Brown of Union Theological Seminary, Presbyterian; and Bishop James Cannon Jr., of Washington, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Five British clergymen also were named to the committee. They are the Bishops of Gloucester, and Manchester, and Canon Tatlow, of London, Anglican; Dr. Garvie of London, Congregationalist; and
Dr. William Lofthouse of Birmingham, Methodist.

The other members are the Most Rev. Dr. Nathan Soderblom, Archbishop of Upsala, Sweden, and the Rev. Dr. Deissson, Lutheran; Dr.
Charles H. Duggins, of Paris,
French Protestant; and Metropolitan Germanos, Eastern Orthodox.

Task of Committee.
This committee will redraft the reports turned in by the six sectional commissions. The question of "Militarization" of the church's ministry are proving the most difficult on which to reach an accord, the Eastern Orthodox and Lutheran churches refusing to give way to what are described as more modern interpretations.

The Rev. Dr. Peter Ainslie of Baltimore, representing the Church of Disciples in North America, and a leader of the church unity movement in the United States, suggested a league of churches, following the idea of the league of nations.

"It is not high time," he said,
"that the churches form a league,
each church holding to all it has and seeking to contribute something to that divine life that has been released for the growth of mankind toward God?"

Archbishop Soderblom appealed to the conference to support his words with some constructive action. Christians, he said, ought to show unity by showing their Christianity.

Bishop Urges Unity.
Another speaker on the unity of christendom was the Bishop of Gloucester. He said that the United States "must construct out of its religious and disorderly religions, an organized territorial ministry, build up a proper parochial system and see to it that every person shall have the ministrations of religion available."

Apparently referring to Poland and Mexico, he concluded: "I am shocked when I hear that in one country the Roman Church has

Riddle of the Sphinx
Puzzles City Officials

Why Likenesses of Fabled Monster That Never Answered Questions Are Perch on New Courthouse Roof No One Knows.

St. Louis with its unexplored traction and terminal problems, is to have a sphinx perched on the highest elevation in the city, when the new Courthouse is finished.
The sphinx, in olden days, was a perfect pet for asking questions, but never answered any. So when City Hall officials, in moments of "explicitly" took across the way at the slivery recumbent figure on top of the new temple of Justice, they may get an artistic thrill, but they need not expect any practical help.

True to the spirit of the subject, the officials in charge of the building were uncommunicative
when they were asked the reason for selection of the sphinx as the surmounting figure. President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service said he could not answer the riddle, and neither could

Walter L. Rathmann, architect and member of the supervising commission.

The sphinx which will face west on the ridge of the structure, 371 feet above the sidewalk, and its twin which will face East, are to be of aluminum, as is the pyra-midal flight of steps leading to their perch. Connected electrically with the steel framework, the figures will serve as lightning protectors for the building. So would anything else done in aluminum—the Missouri mule, or a bust of Lindbergh, or a big metallic ball.

The figures are to be 9 feet high, and their combined length is 40 feet. Advance designs indicate that the Courthouse sphinxes will have more flapper-like faces than their prototype in Egypt—
about what the Sphinx of Ghizeh would look like if it had its face lifted.

TO SAVE CHICAGO ORCHESTRA

Symphony Association Announces Organizations Will Be Continued
If Money Is Raised.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—If Chicago
music lovers contribute $28,000
within the next two days, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, which has been on the verge of disbandment for a few weeks ago following a salary dispute, may be resuscitated.

The Orchestra association, while clinging to its decision not to pay the $100 a week demanded for the musicians, agreed yesterday to permit collection by public subscription of a fund from which the musicians would receive at least part of their demands.

Orchestra members now receive $80 weekly. Union leaders have agreed to accept a $10 increase,
and orchestra association officers said that if Chicagoans by subscription desire to pay the increase,
the orchestra can continue.

It was made clear, however, that the association itself will not assume to meet the increase, on the grounds that it has not sufficient funds.

The orchestra association yesterday declined an offer of $10,000
made by Paul Ash, jazz orchestra director, which was to have been devoted to paying the increase the union sought. The association said it did not want to establish a precedent of paying $90 a week in future years "without adequate means to meet the expense."

Lenin Houses Ordered
GUARDED AGAINST GAS ATTACK

By the Associated Press.
LENINGRAD, Russia, Aug. 16.—
"Militarization" of residence quarters by the "Osoaviakhim" or Society of Defense, aviation and chemical research, has caused consideration among tenants here.

Every resident has been instructed to purchase a gas mask of a special design costing $5.50, and tenants are required to organize a drug store in every building in order to be ready to protect themselves in case of a sudden gas attack.

House committees are instructed to organize lectures and courses for the tenants to instruct them about means of protection from various gases employed in warfare. They are further required to prepare in every house a special
"gas protection cellar" with airtight doors and with ventilating system through which the necessary air is to be supplied after filtration through coal.

GERMAN INSURRECTION CHIEFS
MUST PAY $1,428,000

Leaders of 1920 "Putsch" Ordered to Remit Damages to Government.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Aug. 16.—Capt. Ehr-hardt, who participated in the Kapp putch of 1920, when in-surrectionaries seized the Government of Germany for four days, has been notified by the ministry of defense that he, Luetwitz and Ma-Blaschke are liable for $1,428,000 damages to the State in consequence of the uprising. Ehrhardt disclaimed liability, saying, he actually was Gen. Luetwitz's order.

Gen. Luetwitz led his troops into Berlin March 13, 1920, and occupied the government buildings. The late Dr. Wolfgang Kapp, a native of New York City and head of the insurrection, was installed in the chancellery and issued proclamations as "chancellor of the Reich." After ineffectual attempts to form a government, Dr. Kapp and Gen. Luetwitz fled from the capital March 17, and escaped from the country. Kapp later agreed to surrender, but died at Leipzig in June, 1922, while awaiting trial. There is no record of Gen. Luetwitz ever being apprehended.

Captain Ehrhardt and others of the conspirators after the failure of the putch fled to Bavaria where they found refuge under the protection of the Bavarian Government. Ehrhardt was one of the prominent figures in the Hitler Fascist uprising in Bavaria in 1923.

Herbert Hoover's nomination for the presidency by the next Republican national convention is "inevitable," Congressman Albert Johnson of Hoquiam, Wash., chairman of the House Immigration Committee, declared here yesterday.

"Events have shaped themselves
so that Hoover must be nominated," he said. "Fully appreciating the possibility of defection in the corn belt, it is clear to my mind that Hoover has great strength all over the country. I do not believe that Lowden can make headway because of lack of delegates from his own State. In my opinion, the country will refuse to take Dawes seriously."

"Assassins."

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—The laborite non-confidence motion, directed against President Cosgrave's free state cabinet, was defeated in the Daily Eireann today, by one vote.
The division was a tie, with 71 on each side, when the speaker of the Dail cast the deciding vote.

Women pickets patrolled the streets for the Sinn Fein carrying sandwich boards bearing the Union Jack, with the inscription: "This is not the Union Jack, but only an empty formality."

William T. Cosgrave, president of the executive council, accompanied by all his ministers, entered the Dail at 3 o'clock. After brief questions, Tom Johnson rose to move
no confidence in the government.
The motion, he said, was intended to test whether the present council should continue in office.

Johnson asserted that the Government had failed in its social and industrial program. The entry of the deputies hitherto abstained, while another printed attention (the motion was referred to the committee on the motion, the present cabinet had made a change in the situation and had given the opportunity of displacing the ministry. The ministers had said they did not desire to remain in office
if an alternative were offered.
Today the Fianna Fail was the obvious alternative, and there were several offers by a combination of parties. He said he favored the election of a new cabinet for the time being of either of the parties in conflict for the last five years, as the country needed rest for peace and reconstruction. Chances of this would be much less if the present ministry were retained. In America, he pointed out, there was a feud between the rival parties.
One Irish-American paper published "bad comment" on the assessment of Vice-President O'Higgins, while another printed an attack on De Valera as "the assassin." Both papers circulated in Ireland. Peace would come more surely, Johnson went on, if men identified with neither section were in office.

Eamon de Valera sat in the front opposition bench during Johnson's speech.

Patrick Baxter, leader of the Farmers' party, spoke in support of the Government.

John McCormack, the tenor, was among those in the distinguished strangers' gallery, sitting next to the American minister.

Cosgrave Replies.
When Johnson concluded, President Cosgrave immediately took the floor. He asked what secret agreements had been reached between the supporters of the no-confidence motion. Politics, he declared, stood for development of the resources of the country and for only one armed force in the country, at whatever sacrifice. This brought cheers in which the Laborites joined, while De Valera's deputies remained silent. Cosgrave concluded by asking in a loud voice: "Will the assassins feel easier if this motion passes?"

Capt. Redmond, leader of the National League deputies, who followed, pleaded for national appeasement and reconciliation.

He characterized President Cosgrave as a "poacher turned gamekeeper," declaring Cosgrave had once been engaged in revolutionary activities with De Valera. Redmond saw no reason why De Valera also might not abandon poaching and take to gamekeeping.

De Valera's Reply.
The present phase of the political situation in Southern Ireland was precipitated by the decision of Eamon de Valera and the deputies of the Fianna Fail Republican party, of which he is leader, to take the oath of allegiance and assume the seats in the Dail to which they were elected in the last general elections. They had previously refused to take the oath and thus had not been permitted to take their seats.

Immediately after their decision had become known, there was talk in political quarters of the possible end of the Cosgrave Government.
Tom Johnson was spoken of as the head of a new coalition to take over the Government if President Cosgrave resigned.

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

A Leisurely Novel

LOVE IS ENOUGH. Francis Brett Young. (Alfred A. Knopf.)

Of an ancient and honorable descent is the long novel, usually divided into two volumes for the convenience of the reader. It harks back to the calm and untroubled days when novelists were craftsmen and epicures, and when the embellishment of a simple tale meant more than the rapid unfolding of a clever plot.

Each character and each setting is that calm era could be worked out until it took on the glow of life. The patient author, scratching away with his pen, made the figures live by the use of cumulative effects that the frenzied pounding of a modern typewriter too often fails to give.

In these tabloid days, when the more realistic details of birth and death are sketched out within a heavily laden 250 pages or so, to the satisfaction of the hurried reader with an hour or so to spare, there seems little purpose in bringing forth a two-volume work of not less than 1000 pages. Yet one reads with a certain feeling of peace and quiet of Clare Lydiatt and her friends and family in Francis Brett Young's new novel, "Love Is Enough."

Of course the story could have been told in less space, but somehow one doesn't care to have it told faster. It isn't the story that matters anyway.

Young's style is so delightfully simple and even that wishing he would hurry would seem as ill bred and tactless as interrupting a person who is enjoying a sunset. The atmosphere is always that of the calm and quiet of English ladies and gentlemen in the pleasant surroundings of their country homes.

Clare is not a dramatic sort of heroine, although plenty of things happen to her. One husband dies in the Boer War, from the second she separates, and she is getting ready for the third at the end of the book. Clare is an intensely feminine type, but never to be imposed upon. She is the kind of person whom people love and even ex-husbands wish to serve.

Never introspective nor intense, Clare merely lives on, and the book is spared the straining after effect that a more "modern" heroine might bring into the pleasant setting. Even a daughter-in-law who introduces a piano and up-brought furniture into the home, Clare has always loved does not cause her to weep violently nor tear her hair. She simply looks at her adored son and says resignedly to herself, "At any rate he's still happy in love with her, and that is all that really matters to me."

The story really is a tragedy that never rises to a crescendo of passion—the old tragedy of a woman, always seeking but never finding, heart's desire. But because of the restrained style, one does not realize how tragic Clare's life really has been until one can look back and see it as a whole. True love has come to her at last, one hopes, when the novel ends on its keynote, as sounded by Clare's estranged husband in his farewell to her:

"GYPSY LOVE" ENDS LIGHT OPERA SEASON

Franz Lehár's Tunesful Offering Well Done by Municipal Company in Forest Park.

"GYPSY LOVE" a light opera by Franz Lehár, produced by the Municipal Opera company with the following cast:

John J. Rogers, Zorika, her father, Allan Rogers, Jozsi, her mother, Charlotte Woodruff, Zorika, her father, W. J. McCarthy, Zorika, her mother, Anne Yago, Zorika, her father, Paul Klemm, Zorika, her mother, Dorothy Seear, Zorika, her father, John J. Cherry, Zorika, her mother, Lon Powers, Zorika, her father, John Dunsmuir.

"GYPSY LOVE" one of the most tunesful and ambitious of modern light operas was presented by the Municipal Opera Company last night at the start of the last season of the light opera season on the Forest Park stage.

Written by Franz Lehár, composer of "The Merry Widow," and, from a musical standpoint, considered by many as a better offering than its more popular predecessor, "Gypsy Love" is a delightful entertainment and a record of more than $600, which is a record for the Forest Park stage.

The modern musical comedy has been injected into the present presentation which will add to its popularity with the summer audiences. A Baby Duet by Dorothy Seear and John Cherry, who returned to the cast last night after a week's absence, was enthusiastically received, and Lou Powers' patter in the style of grand opera was another hit of the evening.

The story, laid in Rumania, is a romantic one and the opportunity for lavish settings and colorful costumes have been fully taken advantage of. The work of the chorus is particularly pleasing and effective.

In the play Zorika, daughter of a nobleman, a haughty old aristocrat, about to celebrate her betrothal to a nobleman, whom her father desires to her to marry. Zorika, a happy child of the woods about her father's great hunting lodge, where, because of his eccentricities, they have lived in seclusion most of her lifetime, has not found her own heart. And the ripples of the Cerna River are telling her of another—not Fedor.

The day of the betrothal, Jozsi, a young gypsy, wandering through the forest, plays melodiously on the violin and Zorika is enraptured. They meet on a wild, yearning love springs up. To escape the restraint of her position and indulge her heart's yearning, Zorika determines to flee and enters upon a gypsy's life.

The wandering musician is a son of the same father as Fedor. His mother died in misery and despair. It is his hatred of Fedor more than any real love for Zorika that impels Jozsi to implant in her heart the thirst for adventure.

The betrothal festivities are at their height when Jozsi, present as one of the paid musicians, employs all the cunning of his nature and the potent fascination of his alluring melodies, to create a situation that will make possible a sudden dash to the wilderness with the bride-to-be. Right in the midst of these happy moments the gypsy's true nature is revealed when he meets the beautiful but icy Ilma, his real love, and begins a protestations of constancy and devotion. Sacha, Zorika's maid, is cast for the role of her rescuer. The servant realizes what bitter fruits would be borne by her impulsive young mistress' prospective adventure, but knows it can be followed by no ordinary means.

She at last resorts to the influence of the Cerna's magic waters and thus Zorika is induced into a sleep wherein the water sprites promise a glimpse of the future. The action of the piece then swings into the realms of Zorika's dreams, in which are visioned her course through life as the gypsy's mate, a wild unkempt and unhonored thing of the highways, eventually to be denied by Jozsi her prayers for honorable marriage and at last to be cast aside for his real sweetheart, the calculating, beautiful Ilma.

The awakening of Zorika is followed by the happiest sort of an ending.

Charlotte Woodruff and Alan Rogers are delightful in the roles of Zorika and Jozsi while Paul Klemm is heard at his best as Fedor. Anne Yago plays the cold Ilma.

Next week, the last of the season in Forest Park, will be given over to the special company, headed by Marion Teitel, which will sing the grand opera, "Tales of Hoffman."

MRS. PULITZER LEAVES ESTATE TO CHILDREN

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Ralph, Joseph and Herbert Pulitzer, sons of Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World, will inherit the bulk of the estate of their mother, Mrs. Kate Davis Pulitzer, under her will filed yesterday in Surrogate's Court. The will was executed Jan. 6, 1927.

In addition to what they will receive from their mother, each of the three sons became entitled, upon her death, in Beauville, France, July 23, to one-fifth of a $2,500,000 trust fund which the elder Pulitzer created for her benefit during her lifetime.

The other two-fifths of the $2,500,000 go to two daughters, Mrs. Constance P. Elmslie of Colorado Springs and Mrs. Edith P. Moore, No. 7 East Ninety-sixth street, of New York. Each of these one-fifth shares will be divided into two parts, one going outright to the beneficiary and the other to be held in trust.

The largest single bequest, excepting those to the sons, was to Miss Maude Alice Macarow, for many years Mrs. Pulitzer's companion. To her was willed Mrs. Pulitzer's second largest diamond brooch, a diamond bracelet set with one large and two pear-shaped diamonds, $18,000 outright and a life estate in $100,000. Mrs. Pulitzer gave Miss Macarow the right to dispose of $5000 of the $100,000 by will. The remaining $185,000 will go in thirds each to the Pulitzer sons when Miss Macarow dies.

Bequest to St. Louis Art Museum. Mrs. Pulitzer willed to the City Art Museum in St. Louis her largest and finest set of old Venetian Point De Rose lace. She gave $10,000 each to the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital and to the New York Association for the Blind.

The will goes to Northampton, a nephew, $25,000; Ruth Lawrence, a friend, $10,000; George Ledlie, $10,000; Celina Fleury, a former maid of Mrs. Pulitzer's, residing in Orleans, France, $1000, and Elaine Flaherty, $1000.

BEGIN LONG TOUR IN GOLDEN WEDDING YEAR

St. Louis Couple to Visit Canada, Alaska and Florida to See Children.

A visit to three children, living in the extremes of the United States, is taking Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wahl, of 5232 Lansdowne avenue, on their golden wedding year on a triangular tour of the country and into Alaska and Canada.

One son lives at Snohomish, Wash., another at Jacksonville, Fla., and a daughter at Hartford, Conn. They have visited William Wahl at Snohomish and now are in Alaska. They plan to return south through Canada to New England to visit their daughter, Mrs. Otto Thieme. From Hartford, they will go to some of the larger eastern cities, then to Florida to see their son in Jacksonville. They are due to return late in September.

Wahl, a retired butcher, is 75 years old and his wife 68. "Mother and father are making the trip in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary," said another daughter, Mrs. Fred Carr, of 5315 Murdoch avenue, today. "They enjoy traveling and stand it very well."

They were married in St. Louis 50 years ago, after Wahl came to this country from Austria. He retired after 35 years in the meat business at 504 South Second street. Their tour started three weeks ago.

DRY AGENTS CLAD AS HUNTERS, GIVEN DRINK, ARREST MAN

John Hawkins, proprietor of Roadhouse Near Advance, Mo., placed in jail.

Special to the Post-Dispatch, ADVANCE, Mo., Aug. 16.—Two prohibition agents, disguised as hunters, arrested John Hawkins, proprietor of a roadhouse, near here, last night, after Hawkins had served them whisky.

The agents entered Hawkins' establishment clad in hunting jackets and armed with rifles. At first they said they were squirrel hunters, but later "confessed" they were bootleggers, and offered to show him a new way to make whisky. Hawkins offered them a drink. Difficult Breathing

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method That Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat

Nasal catarrh is not only disagreeable and offensive, but it will lead to serious trouble. That inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of the air passages of the head, nose and throat may spread to the point where it is incurable and a danger to life.

Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes are composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries. The warm smoke vapor inhaled into the affected air passages and will go where sprays, douches and salves cannot reach. They contain no tobacco or cubebs, and being harmless, are used by children as well as adults. If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, catarrhal deafness, hoarseness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritation, or are subject to frequent colds, get from any drugist a pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes, and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.

FOREST OF FLOWERS AT GANGSTERS' FUNERAL

Five Trucks Carry Floral Offerings to Graves of Russo and Spicuzza.

Sixth and Biddle streets yesterday saw the last of Tony Russo and Vincent Spicuzza. A forest of flowers stood bright among factory walls in front of an undertaking establishment, where lay the bodies of the two gangsters, found murdered last week near Chicago.

Less than a block north were the addresses, 1214 and 1216 North Biddle, where the two men often had told police they conducted mercantile establishments. "Often," for Russo had been arrested 145 times on various charges, and Spicuzza, 106. But there had been a time before they entered the warfare of the liquor runners, when they had been growing up and going to school with the people of that neighborhood.

So the forest of flowers extended nearly half a block south from the corner, and crowded in strangely among the weeds in front of the billboards of a vacant lot. Hundreds of persons waited outside, blocking most of the street and the opposite sidewalk, gazing at the mass of flowers and the windows of the second-floor room where the bodies lay.

All day Saturday and Sunday there was a steady file of visitors up the stairs and past the two caskets. Yesterday the undertaking parlors were jammed and in the crush the others of both men collapsed. A moment later a sister of one of the men paused before the other's casket. She raised her hands and in a shrill torrent of Italian and English, seemed to be chiding him for—judging her brother to go to Chicago. She burst into hysterical sobs.

More hundreds waited outside the church of St. Charles Borromeo when the cortège arrived. Two gray hearsees led a procession of 96 automobiles. Five trucks had taken the 700 floral offerings on to the waiting graves in Calvary Cemetery.

"Only a few days ago these men were well and strong as you or I," said the Rev. Father Spigardi, speaking in Italian. "Now they are without even life. And their souls went unprepared. Only piety, Signore, only the mercy of the Lord, can save them."

CHICAGO OPERA CO. ENGAGES 2 AMERICANS 'FOUND' ABROAD

Chase B. Sikes, Basso, and Leone Kruse, Both of Michigan, Hired for Concert Season.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Herbert M. Johnson, manager of the Chicago Civic Opera Co., who has returned from Europe, announces the engagement for the coming season of two young American singers who have distinguished themselves abroad.

One of Johnson's finds is Chase Baromeo Sikes, a graduate of the University of Michigan, whose home is in Detroit. Sikes, who is a basso, has achieved a notable success in Italy, where he sang under the name of Cesare Baromeo. The other American is Leone Kruse, a native of Lamont, Mich. Her parents now are residents of Petoskey, Mich. After studying in Chicago and New York, Miss Kruse went abroad four years ago and has sung in Munich, Prague, Dresden and Berlin. She has returned to America to become the wife of Lawrence Wolf, an American tenor.

MANS LAUGHTER CHARGE AGAINST NEGRO BOXER

Colorado Officials Will Make Trial a Test of State's New Law Legalizing Fights.

By the Associated Press. DENVER, Colo., Aug. 16.—Charges of manslaughter were filed against Clarence "Shot" Nunn, Negro boxer of Alton, Kan., by the District Attorney's office yesterday. Nunn knocked out Jack Madden in a bout here Friday. Madden died at a hospital Saturday.

The charges, District Attorney Cline explained, will form a test of the state boxing law, passed at the last session of the State Legislature, which legalizes boxing and, Cline said, may have some bearing on the manslaughter charge. A post-mortem examination disclosed an abnormal artery in Madden's brain, which must have burst in the stress of any undue exertion.

THIEVES MISS HOUDINI TRICKS

Brother of Late Magician's Home in Brooklyn Entered.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Thieves failed to secure secrets of Houdini, the late magician, in entering the Brooklyn home of his brother, Theodore Weiss Harden, the police have been told. Jewelry, linen, other valuables and $15,000 in Liberty bonds were available to the thieves, but left untouched, Harden told police. The flight of time and the Chinese torture cell equipment, however, valuable parts of the late magician's paraphernalia, were hidden and were not found by the thieves.

Switchman Hit by Coal Car. Lemuel Braun, 23 years old, a switchman employed by the Washburn Railroad, suffered a fractured left leg and cuts and bruises when he was struck by a coal car last night in the yards of the railroad near 10th and Cates avenues. The coal car had been set in motion when struck slightly by a switch engine. Braun was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

Mrs. Elaine Rosenthal Reinhardt of Dallas defeated Mrs. G. B. Hill of Dallas, 3 and 2, making a 30-foot putt on the first green to take a lead. Mrs. Hill squared the match before the half-way mark was reached, but slipped later.

Mrs. Melvin Jones of Chicago was barely able to hold Mrs. G. E. Cline of Beloit even with a 42 in the first nine, but gradually gained on the homeward trip to win 3 and 1. Virginia Van Wie of Chicago had no trouble in downing Mrs. Perry Fiske of Detroit, 11, a former champion, 5 and 4.

Mrs. J. W. Taylor defeated Mrs. R. H. Columbus, O., 3 and 1, both scoring 85. The Californian went out in 4 despite the 8 on the 7th to be topped.

Ruth Hits One

Out of Sox Park

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Babe Ruth

today performed the feat of knocking the ball out of the new White

Sox baseball park, the first time it has ever been done.

The ball sailed over the roof of the double decked grandstand in right field.

Babe was the first man up in the fifth inning, and Alphonse Thomas was pitching for the Sox. Gehrig, who is now but one homer ahead of Ruth, 35 and 37, followed Ruth's home with a strike-out.

Diagram of Seating Arrangements for Dempsey-Tunney Fight

The stadium is U-shaped and temporary seats will be constructed in the lower end, as shown above, entirely enclosing the field. In the center of the ringside section the ring will be erected. All the 540 seats are on the flat around the ring, seats being reduced in price in proportion to remoteness from the ring. There are two exceptions, these being the boxes at the top on each side pointed to by arrows. These are usually used as press boxes and are glass-enclosed, well furnished and lighted.

RAILROADS HERE TO TAKE TICKET RESERVATIONS

Fans May Secure Stadium Seats and Railroad Ac- commodations in One Transaction.

The four railroads operating between here and Chicago are ready to fill ticket orders for the Dempsey-Tunney fight on Sept.
26, for persons using their lines.

Reservations may be made at the city ticket offices of these lines and the stadium tickets had in a few days. Reservations may also be made by mail provided the sender encloses a certified check for the full amount.

War Tax Included.

The war tax is included in the seat prices and hence checks may be made out to the even amount to cover this particular item. The prices are forty, thirty, twenty-five, twenty, ten and five dollars.

Railroad fares are uniform for all lines. Special trains are being run with $22.82 for the round trip cost. To this must be added $1.50 parlor car cost or $2.75 for a berth, as the case may be, or both.

The specials are to be run on such a schedule that the fight fans may leave St. Louis at noon, or slightly before, on the day of the fight, arrive in Chicago in ample time for the event, leave his belongings on the train, get in his berth after the battle and be back in St. Louis in time for work next morning. Thus he loses only half a day from business and saves the expense of a hotel in Chicago.

Where to Get Tickets.

The railroads and places where tickets are obtainable are as follows:

Wabash—City ticket office, southeast corner Broadway and Locust or 1450 Railway Exchange building.

C. & E. I.—City ticket office,
414 Locust street.

C. & A.—City ticket office,

PLAYERS MISS WILLS SEEDED NO. 1 FOR NATIONAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

KASHNIR, DRIVEN BY MURPHY, WINS $10,000 GRAND CIRCUIT EVENT

By the Associated Press.

NORTH RANDALL, O., Aug. 15.—Kashnir, three-year-old daughter of Belwyn, owned by John O'Brien of Cleveland, and driven by Tommy Murphy, won the $10,000 grand circuit event on the sixth day's grand circuit here yesterday afternoon. Straight heats, trotting to a record of 2:03 2-5. This victory marked the fourth of this filly's season, she having previously won the Marion stake at Toledo, the $10,000 cup race at Detroit and the Fasig stake at Randall last week.

MRS. MALLORY, TITLE HOLDER, NEXT IN LINE

Betty Nuthall, 16-year-old girl, third among group of foreign players entered.

er in two continents, defeated Miss Helen Jacobs of the United States team.

Miss Nuthall caused immense astonishment by serving her UNDERHANDED!

Sacrificing pace, accuracy, attitude, which gives the downward service slant, and other factors, she managed to prevail over her American rival in the recent contests at Forest Hills.

Miss Nuthall stood 12 feet behind the baseline while serving to the net from this point is obvious. It would appear possible for her defense to be sound, under that handicap, against a good net player.

Yet the British girl not only defeated Helen Jacobs in this country but previously, in England, had beaten the American woman champion, Mrs. Molla Mallory.

The handicap would appear sufficient, however, to keep her from ever being No. 1 ranking tennis player.

SPORTS SALAD

The Passing Show.

THOUGH fate to us has been unkind. This year in pennant seeking, We're only seven games behind, A bagatelle, so speaking. Though out of luck upon the mound,

The outer works and inner; The Cards will soon be grabbing ground, And be a pennant winner.

'Tis argued that the longest road Is not without a turning; And so we'll just pick up our load, The miles behind us spurning. A different story there will be, The kinder fates permitting; The lame will walk, the blind will see,

And pick up in their hitting. Returning from their Eastern swing, Where foemen at them sniggered, Our Brownsies still are in the ring, Although a bit disfigured. They can't play ball some people say

Although they try to dally; There must be something they can play— How 'bout the ukulele?

Quite So. Although the Browns lost nearly everything save honor and their uniforms they are not a whit discouraged. You can't expect them to win 'em all.

Nevertheless the Browns are back home and they are going to play out that schedule to the bitter end, win, lose or draw. That old fighting spirit will be served.

And the season doesn't end until Oct. 2. After that you can call the wrecking crew when ready, Gridley.

Speaking of schedules, we note that the Browns finish in Chicago. We knew it was somewhere in the American League.

"Two Men Take $3 From Newsboy, 14." And still some people are not in favor of capital punishment!

"Family Has 4 Sets of Twins." DOUBLE header now and then is relished by the best of men. But still we feel some how or other

It doesn't make a hit with mother. Cheer Up! As the end of the pennant race approaches it begins to look as though a carnival of cowbells will not be a feature of our fall festivities.

However, while there is life there is hope. And while we have a mathematical chance we can dope them to win.

When Frankie Frisch skidded on his stomach in last Sunday's wash-out, Billy Southworth picked him up and stood him on his feet. It was a nice piece of backing up and Bill should have been credited with an assist.

For pennant contenders, both the Pirates and Cards appeared to be slipping badly. There was a reason. It was really too muddy to play baseball and our Red Birds don't shine as mud-larks.

Don't mind me, I'm only Brown, the baseball man.

BOBBY JONES LEAVES ATLANTA FOR NATIONAL AMATEUR GOLF MEET

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 15.—Bent on recovering the crown knocked off his brow last year by George von Elm, Bobby Jones slipped quietly out of town last night for Minneapolis and the National Amateur Golf championship which will be played over the Minikahda course there beginning next Monday.

Accompanying him were Watts Gunn, national collegiate champion and runner-up to Jones in the amateur tournament a few years ago, and Gene Cook, also of Atlanta.

This will be Bobby's first tournament play since his sensational victory for the second successive year of the British open at St. Andrews, Scotland.

ST. LOUIS WRESTLER LOSES HIS MATCH TO MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMP

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 16.—Joe Parrell of Chicago, middleweight wrestling champion of the world, successfully defended his title here last night by throwing Gus Kellio of St. Louis, formerly junior middleweight champion of the world, two out of three falls.

Parrell won the first fall with a body slam in 40 seconds. Kellio last week renounced his junior title in order to meet Parrell.

ROBIN'S RIVER GAINS VICTORY IN DOG DERBY

Equals Track Record for Three-Eighths in Defeating Fine Field in $5000 Madison Race.

Robin's River, owned by H. Stebbins, was the winner in the $5000 greyhound Derby, decided at the Madison Kennel Club track last night. The largest crowd of the season saw the winner equal the track record of 39 4-5 seconds in gaining the victory by four lengths.

Steeple View placed second in the event, with Hard a Starboard third. The favorites, No Foolin and Play-gor finished far back in the field of eight.

Robin's River never left the result in doubt. Off in the lead, the dog increased its lead all the way. Steeple View came strong at the finish to place. Entering the stretch, Steeple View was sixth, but a great burst of speed enabled him to finish in second position.

Robin's River refunded his backers $7.40 for a $2 straight ticket; Steeple View paid $4.50 for the place and Hard a Starboard $3.60 to show.

Columbus Tosser Retains National Championship at Duluth.

By the Associated Press.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 16.—C. C. Davis of Columbus, O., retained his world's championship yesterday at the close of the annual summer tournament of the National Horse-shoe Pitching Association.

Davis headed all 38 entrants in the three-day round-robin preliminaries in percentage of ringers, but was second in number of games won, in which Frank Jackson of Lamoni, Ia., was first. Jackson was second to Davis when the tournament ended.

Bert Duryee of Wichita, Kan., State champion, who recently has played on St. Louis Muny team, placed third. Jackson defeated Davis in a single game today, but was later defeated by Howard Collier of Canton, Ill., and by his son, Harold Jackson of Chicago, being put out of championship running by his first defeat.

The 12 high men of the preliminary round-robin held a second round-robin, each man playing every other finalist daily for three days, the man with the highest game average winning. Davis won.

BRITISH POLO TEAM FOR INTERNATIONAL SERIES IS SELECTED

BRITISH INVADERS WILL BE OUTWEIGHED IN CUP MATCHES

Capt. Pert, Maj. Williams, Capt. Roark and Maj. Atkinson Make Up Challenging Quartet.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The British Army-in-India polo team which meets the United States in the international challenge cup series next month will rely on speed to match the weight advantage of the Americans. Announcement of the British lineup reveals that three of the Britons will be outweighed greatly. The weight factor is almost as important in this modern rough-and-tumble game as it is in football.

The English team will be composed of Capt. Claude E. Pert, No. 1; Maj. Austin H. Williams, No. 2; Capt. C. T. L. Roark, No. 3, and Maj. Eric G. Atkinson, back. All are World War veterans and seasoned in polo competition, most of which came during military service in India. Maj. Atkinson is the only member who played on the 1921 British team in the international matches.

Handicaps of the players would indicate there is little to choose between them and the American team of Winston Guest, Tommy Hitchcock, J. Cheever Cowdin and Devereux Milburn. The British handicaps total 33 and those of the United States 34.

The invading team was chosen after a series of test matches on American soil. The men chosen are the same four who last week administered a sound drubbing to a star American quartet that numbered three members of the U. S. international four of 1924.

The invaders will be superbly mounted. They brought the finest string of polo ponies that England has ever had for the classic series. The Army-in-India team came to the United States direct from the exceptionally fast fields of India to avoid practice on the English fields, which are much slower.

CITY ATTACKS U. R. STOCK OFFER TO SETTLE MILL TAX

Brief Protests Against Sale of Properties Till Payment of Claim Is Better Provided For.

ASSERTS PRIORITY
OVER SHAREHOLDERS

Declares They Would Get 12 to 37 Per Cent Return and Municipality Only 4-2-3 Per Cent.

Federal Judge Faris today took up for consideration the argument of City Counselor Muench, asking that the sale of the United Railways properties to the reorganization committee, for $48,302,000,
be not approved until more liberal provision is made for payment of the city's mill tax judgment, dating before the receivership of 1918. The judgment, without interest, is $2,336,321.92.

The sale of the United Railways was made Aug. 1 by William L.
Igoe as special master, and is now awaiting the court's approval. The new owners desiring to take charge of the property by Oct. 1.

A brief containing the City Counselor's argument was filed with the court late yesterday afternoon. It sets forth the history of the mill tax, imposed by the city on the gross revenue of the United Railways, and of the receivership.

U. R. Offer Criticized.
It then discusses the question whether the offer of two-thirds of a share of preferred stock in the new company, for every $100 of the city's approved claim, is a fair
one. An alternative offer of $33.33 cash for each $100 of the claim was made, and the city would probably have to take the latter offer rather than the stock, as the city is not permitted to hold stock in a private corporation. However, Judge Faris has held that this disability of the city is no concern of his, so the stock offer is the one which has to be discussed.

The City Counselor cites a decision of the United States Supreme Court, which, he says, "clearly indicates that precedence must be given to the entire claim of a creditor over any part or interest of a stockholder."

"Nowhere," the City Counselor argues, "does the Court say that it is sufficient to make fair provision for a creditor. The Court says that to the extent of their debts, creditors are entitled to priority over stockholders, against all the property of an insolvent corporation. The Supreme Court does not lend any countenance to the view that partial payment in securities will be sufficient to protect the prior rights of creditors."

Stockholders Get Best of It.
If the new company should "be so fortunate" as to be able to pay 7 per cent on its preferred stock, the City Counselor says, "the city would receive 4-2-3 per cent interest on its claim. It compares with this the interest which the holders of the new common stock will receive, on the basis of their investment in the old company.
Figuring their investment in the old company at par, it is estimated that the old stockholders will receive, on their new holdings, from 2 to 6-2-3 per cent on their old investment. The rate depends on the valuation of the company's property approved by the Public Service Commission, and the rate of return allowed on such valuation. On the basis of the $58-000,000 valuation and seven per cent return, stipulated in the service-at-cook franchise proposal, the rate of return to stockholders would be 3 1/2 per cent on their old investment."

But, the City Counselor says,
the foregoing estimates of return to stockholders have been on the assumption that their old holdings were purchased at par value.
"When we get down to the actual facts of the situation," the City Counselor argues, "it is found that the majority of present United Railways stockholders did not pay $100 a share, and that some of them paid as little as $4 a share.
A fair average, it is declared, would be $12.50 a share. On that basis, the proposal would mean a return of 12 1/2 to 37 1/2 per cent to the stockholders, as compared with the 4-2-3 per cent received by the city, a creditor."

Life's Most Gripping Stories

WHAT is more thrilling, more soul-stirring than the swift-moving drama of life itself? The novel, short story or play merely entertain. The frank records of human experience grip the imagination, and stir the emotions because they are true.

That is why the narratives in True Story Magazine have won such a vast reader audience. They are actual happenings involving real people. They reveal intimate details of the human temptations, errors, struggles, triumphs and failures that make fiction colorless and tame in comparison.

The 16 big features in September True Story, for example, are fairly packed with inspiration and thrills. You cannot afford to miss this remarkable issue. Your newsdealer can supply you. Get your copy today.

DISCUSSION IN WALL STREET OVER GARY'S SUCCESSOR

Nathan L. Miller and Myron C. Taylor Among Those Given Serious Consideration.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
 NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The death of Elbert H. Gary today intensified the great interest which the financial district had shown for more than a year as to his probable successor as chairman of the United States Steel Corporation.

Gary occupied an unusual position, as indicated by his insistence upon use of his full title, which was "Chairman of the Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer." From the formation of the company, in which work he and the late J. Pierpont Morgan played the leading part, he was its dominant figure.

Gary's Dominance Was Waning. During the years of careful building, in which vast sums were taken from earnings to improve the properties, the Morgans, father and son; George F. Baker and Gary stood together. Some believed Gary's dominance began to wane three years ago when a more liberal dividend policy was adopted.

It is believed Gary favored former Gov. Nathan L. Miller, who became identified with the company first as a representative of the large stockholders held by the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation, for which he had long been counsel. He has since, however, become general counsel for the Steel Corporation and a member of its all-important Finance Committee. His background as a lawyer and public official is similar to that of Gary.

Taylor Is Possibility. Another possibility is Myron C. Taylor, also a lawyer, who is a banker, railroad director and industrialist as well. He is closely associated with the First National Bank interests, headed by George F. Baker, who is reported to favor him. Morgan also may approve his choice. Taylor was made a director of the Steel Corporation two years ago and also is a member of the Finance Committee.

Gary was chairman of this committee. Other members, in addition to Taylor and Miller, are Morgan, Baker, James A. Farrell, president of the company; William J. Filbert, Comptroller, and Percival Roberts Jr.

What is needed is not a technical steel man, but an executive and administrator with a broad grasp not only of business and finance but of public policy as well. That is why Taylor, who has been identified most closely with the textile industry, and Miller, are most prominently mentioned.

Pierre du Pont, Delaware capitalist, head of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., and chairman of the General Motors Corporation has been mentioned since it was revealed a few weeks ago that the Du Pont corporation had purchased a large block of United States Steel stock. Du Pont declined to discuss the possibility today, and it is believed unlikely he will be the choice.

Coolidge's Name Mentioned. Others mentioned include President Coolidge, Secretary Mellon, Dwight W. Morrow, of J. P. Morgan & Co., and Farrell.

Just why these names have been brought up even in gossip is not apparent. Morrow would be a reasonable choice, but is known to have no desire for the position. Farrell is a technical steel man, of far more value to the corporation in his present place as president than he would be as chairman.

A special meeting of the Finance Committee scheduled for this afternoon was postponed until next week, thus removing likelihood that the successor to Gary would be announced at once.

Many believe the new chairman, whoever he may be, will never occupy the position of dominance Gary enjoyed.

Gary's Wealth Discussed. Gary's fortune furnished another topic for speculation. Estimates of the wealth he amassed varied widely. One Wall Street authority placed it as high as $45,000,000, while others fixed the total at figures ranging from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Accurate figures on his wealth have long been unavailable. The books of the Steel Corporation show he held in his own name 1267 shares of common stock and 1595 shares of preferred stock which have a present combined market value of $422,810.59. But it had often been said that he owned the entire stock in a corporation formed to handle his investments and that this concern owned a much larger block of stock in the Steel Corporation than he did himself.

FARIS REJECTS CITY'S CLAIMS IN FINAL APPROVAL OF SALE OF U. R.

Gives St. Louis Four Months to Decide Whether It Will Accept Offer to Settle Mill Tax.

THIS IS $810,622 CASH FOR $2,431,867 DUE

Alternative $1,621,244 in Stock—Judge Scoffs at Idea of Return to 5-Cent Fare.

Federal Judge Faris today approved the sale of the United Railways to the reorganization committee for $43,101,000, and gave the city four months to elect whether it would settle its mill tax judgment against the company by accepting the reorganizers' offer of one-third of the obligation in cash, or the alternative offer of two-thirds in preferred stock of the new corporation.

The judgment is for $2,396,221.92, and the interest allowed by Judge Faris, up to the date of the reorganization, is $35,546.43, making the full amount $2,431,867.41. Under Judge Faris' decision the city can take one-third of the amount, $810,622.47 cash, or twice that value, $1,621,244.94, in preferred stock. Lawyers hold that the city, under its charter, cannot own stock in a private corporation, hence may be limited to the cash offer.

Calls Offer Fair. Judge Faris declared the offer to the city, of one-third its claim in cash or two-thirds in stock, to be a fair one, when compared with the settlement made with common and preferred stockholders of the old company. He figured that the preferred stockholders of the old company, under the reorganization plan, will get $21.75 for each $100 of their claims, and that the holders of the $24,913,000 common stock of the old company will get 11 cents on the $100. In comparison with this, he held that the offer of $23.33 cash, or twice the amount in stock, to the city, was fair.

Rejects City's Claims. He dismissed the attempt of the city's counsel, in a brief filed Monday, to show that the city would be treated unfairly, on the basis of the possible returns of the stock. Such estimates, he said, were hypothetical, and the courts can consider only the comparable fairness of the offer on the basis present values.

Judge Faris discussed the mill tax, and the reason for increasing street car fares from 5 to 7 cents, and recently to 7½ and 8 cents. As a member of the State Supreme Court, Judge Faris once gave a minority ruling against the validity of the mill tax ordinance.

Much of the trouble of the United Railways, Judge Faris said, had been due to over-taxation. He listed the items of taxation to which the United Railways Co. is subjected, saying that no other corporation or individual in Missouri had such tax burdens. The taxes he enumerated were the mill tax, general property tax, income tax, franchise tax and cost of paying dividends on tracks.

Five-Cent Fare "Nonsense." While fare increases have been 50 per cent, and recently more, Judge Faris found from the reorganizers' report and other sources of information that the increases in wages, equipment and material costs in the same period had been about 51 per cent. The same increases, he said, have taken place in the costs of all other businesses. Even, he added, the newspapers, which have increased their sale price 100 per cent (from 1 cent to 1 cent a copy).

"In view of these facts," Judge Faris said, "any suggestion of a return to 5-cent street car fare is not even respectable nonsense."

He discussed the allegation, made by the city, that the sale price of the property, which was put up at auction Aug. 1, was at least $4,000,000 too low. He said it was true that the amount of the bid was about $4,000,000 less than the total bonded indebtedness of the company. But he added that "the courts have been driven to recognize that colossal corporations, involving millions of dollars, cannot be sold, in fairness to the secured and unsecured creditors, except to a reorganization committee."

Looks for Cut in Overhead. Judge Faris said that under provisions made in the plan of re-
